Viet Cong Continue Attempts On Mekong Delta Ship Lines

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong kept up harassment of allied shipping today with an unsuccessful attack on a U.S. Navy river patrol boat in the canal-laced Mekong Delta.

As the Communists staged their fifth attack on the waterways within eight days, the U.S. Navy sent aloft helicopter gunships to support its river boat fleet. It is the first time the Navy has flown its own armed helicopters.

Navy pilots and crews took over operation of the UH-1B Huey helicopters from Army teams after on-the-job training aboard the USS Tortuga, a dock landing ship stationed off the coast as base for the choppers.

Mine Explodes
The U.S. command said a mine exploded near a Navy patrol boat in the Co Chien River, 55 miles southwest of Saigon, but the blast caused no damage or casualties.

Then Viet Cong on the shore opened up with about 100 rounds of automatic fire. But the boat was not hit and its crew returned the fire. Results of the American fire were not known.

An American spokesman said, "An American warplane pounded North Viet Nam in more heavy raids Monday, flying 133 multiplane missions against oil depots, truck convoys and other targets in the southern Panhandle and coastal areas.

Plane Downed
One U.S. F105 Thunderchief was shot down Monday 15 miles northwest of Dong Hoi. The pilot bailed out but was not rescued and was listed as missing. It was the 347th American plane reported lost in the air war against the North.

Ground action in South Viet Nam came to a near standstill with only patrol skirmishes reported.

Guam-based B52 bombers made two raids today. One formation hit an enemy troop concentration and training camp 40 miles southwest of Saigon at dawn. Another formation struck at a North Vietnamese infiltration route a few miles south of the demilitarized zone and 20 miles west of Dong Ha, in Quang Tri Province, the A.S. command said.

The series of attacks on allied shipping began with the mining last Tuesday of the U.S. merchant ship Baton Rouge Victory. She was hit 20 miles southeast of Saigon in the main shipping channel to the capital and seven of her crew of 45 Americans were killed.

Landing Craft
On Saturday, a South Vietnamese landing craft hit a Viet Cong mine in a river 54 miles southwest of Saigon, causing several casualties. A government minesweeper hit a mine Sunday and sank just outside the Saigon shipping channel a mile or so from where the Baton Rouge Victory was hit.

A U.S. minesweeper narrowly missed a Communist mine in

Speaks Before Legion

LBJ: U.S. Must Seek Crises' Cause

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today the United States may find itself "facing a series of explosive crises, in which our military involvement is urgently at issue," unless it works with other countries to root out the poverty, spiritual blight and curbs on liberty that breed violence.

In an address prepared for the annual convention here of the American Legion, Johnson said "the years that lie ahead call for our imagination and compassion, as well as our courage."

"Unless we have the imagination to understand what is happening in the world, we may well find ourselves — together with our friends among the highly developed nations — facing a series of explosive crises — in which our military involvement is urgently at issue," he said.

Tempo of Violence
Saying that "the tempo of violence is increasing," and that poor countries "are on a road mined with potential turmoil," Johnson offered the following prescription for dealing with the possible crises ahead:

"Only when we root out the very causes of war — the poverty of man's body, the privation of his spirit, the imprisonment of his liberties — will there be a final surrender of violence to itself."

"That is our aim in Asia," he said.
The President said that in Viet Nam and other parts of Asia, "our assistance to these nations, our involvement in their affairs, will be no greater than they choose to have it."

Johnson made no reference in his speech to a request by the American Veterans Committee that he cancel the address on the ground that the Legion "still overwhelmingly is a segregated organization."

The AVC, with a membership of some 10,000, lodged its protest in a telegram to Johnson contending that the makeup of Monday's legion parade demonstrated the segregation policy.

Similar messages were sent to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Veterans Administrator William J. Driver.

The telegram to Driver asked for an investigation under the Civil Rights Act "concerning federal assistance given to the American Legion and to other veterans' organizations whose lack of clear national policy on integration condones or encourages large-scale de facto segregation."

The messages were signed by Ben Neufeld, national vice chairman of the AVC, and Frank E. G. Weil, chairman of the District of Columbia chapter.

Guard Enforces Peace

Wauwatosa Protest Quiet

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Negroes demonstrated for the 11th night in a tense suburban Wauwatosa neighborhood Monday night as armed troops enforced a peace so quiet that crickets could be heard chirping on the lawns.

National Guardsmen brandishing bayonets escorted about 200 court order today at Knowles' suggestion to try to limit the number of demonstrators.

Behind Barricades
About 300 white persons — no more than one-tenth the throng who had jeered and taunted Negro pickets in an electric encounter Sunday night — were kept behind barricades for blocks from the home of Circuit Judge Robert C. Cannon, the target of the protests. Only scattered heckling was heard.

The Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is demanding that Cannon either resign as judge or resign as a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles. The demonstrators are charging that the Eagles limit their membership to whites.

Cannon flew home from Columbus, Ohio, Monday, but attempts to arrange a face-to-face meeting between the judge and leaders of the protests collapsed when negotiators couldn't decide whose conference table to use.

25 Feet Apart
Cannon and protest leaders sat in separate rooms 25 feet apart in Wauwatosa's city hall even its backers say it's only a while Negroes demanded that stopgap and a rescue operation,

Rusk Defends U. S. Military Commitments

Secretary Testifies Before Hearing by Preparedness Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk denied today that the Central Intelligence Agency — sometimes termed the government's chief spy agency — has directed foreign policy.

"I have not known of an instance where the CIA has tried to usurp policy since I've been secretary of state," the Cabinet member told the Senate preparedness subcommittee at an open hearing.

It was Rusk's second session before the group, some members of which have contended that the number of U.S. defense treaties have left the country overextended. Rusk has said this is not true.

Questions about CIA's role in foreign policy were raised by Sen. Margaret Smith, R-Maine, a subcommittee member.

She said there had been much criticism that the CIA had invaded formulation of foreign policy. She noted the recent futile effort of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to acquire a role in the congressional supervision of the CIA.

"Are these charges true?" she asked Rusk.

"Not to my knowledge," Rusk

Protests of Russians in Second Day Despite Call For Red Guards to Stop

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese radio correspondent reported that 500,000 Chinese demonstrated against the Soviet Embassy in Peking today.

It was the second such day of anti-Soviet activity in the Chinese capital, although other Japanese correspondents in Peking had reported earlier that the Red Chinese leadership had apparently called off the demonstration today to avoid the possibility of a diplomatic break with Moscow.

Led by Peking's militant young Red Guards, 200,000 youths demonstrated in front of the embassy Monday and far into the night.

The Peking correspondent of NHK, the Japanese Broadcasting Corp., said the rally today was a continuation of the demonstration Monday. Both were reported noisy but orderly.

The demonstrators, led by the teen-age Red Guards, carried portraits of Mao Tze-tung and banners denouncing "revisionists," meaning the Soviet Communists. There were no signs of shouts that directly named the Russian, NHK said.

The official Peking People's Daily praised the teen-age "defenders of Mao Tze-tung's thoughts" for ferreting out "bloodsuckers" and "sworn enemies of the people."

The newspaper said the guards' purge of foreign influences "heralds political and economic revolution."

The People's Daily, organ of the Chinese Communist party, called for the Chinese people to take up the Red Guards' purge.

Scientists May 'Seed' Hurricane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — By late tonight, scientists hope to know whether it's possible to tame a mighty hurricane with furious, 120-mile-an-hour winds.

Hurricane Faith is the unsuspecting guinea pig.

The big storm stirred the warm Atlantic into a fury today, having whipped small Bahama out islands with stinging gusts for two days.

Scientists attached to Project Stormfury plan to seed her with silver-iodide "smoke" today. Jets from the U.S. naval base at Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico, were to drop the silver iodide into the tempestuous wall of the eye.

The project — the world's first large-scale effort to make a hurricane's fury evaporate — was expected to take about 12 hours.

But Hurricane Faith hovered close to the test area boundary. A change of direction to the west could quickly move her beyond the area and force cancellation of the delicate seeding operation.

Scientists were reluctant to seed the storm earlier because it was too close to populated areas. They are not yet certain that strange things — perhaps even an intensification of the storm — might not result from seeding.

Body Found In Lake Near Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — An unidentified body of a woman was taken from Pine Lake in Shawano County about 12:30 p.m. today by sheriff's department authorities.

The body was discovered about 11:30 a.m. by a 13-year-old Green Bay youth, James Last, who had just gone out onto the lake to go fishing.

The youth, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Last, told sheriff's authorities that one of his ears struck the body a short distance from shore.

The body was taken to the Karth Funeral Home in Shawano. Coroner Dr. Clyde J. Heagle, along with Sheriff Fritz Lemhouse and Undersheriff Carl Krueger, are investigating the circumstances surrounding the woman's death.

Pine Lake is located midway between Clintonville and Shawano.

House Reserve Bill Termed Inadequate

'Poor Substitute' for Needs, Sen. Russell Calls Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell said today a House committee's plan to authorize President Johnson to call up about 190,000 Reservists appears to be "a pale substitute for what is needed."

Russell's chilly reception greeted House Armed Services Committee approval of a bill which would authorize the President to place on active duty some 56,000 nondrilling Reservists and about 133,000 other Reservists who have not completed training.

Not Requested
The President has not asked for such authority and many members of Congress have expressed doubt he would ever use it.

Russell, D-Ga., who heads the Senate Armed Services Committee, told a newsman he is going to await developments. "There is a question in my mind whether this House bill goes far enough," he said. "From press accounts of its terms — and I have had no opportunity to study the bill itself — it looks like a pale substitute for what is needed."

The Senate adopted 66 to 21 last week a Russell amendment to allow the President to require 13 months service from all Reservists or Guardsmen with less than six months active duty — an estimated 500,000 men. But the House rejected the

Russell amendment, tacked onto the $58-billion defense money bill, largely on grounds its Armed Services Committee was working on a separate measure.

When the House committee approved its bill by a 31-1 vote Monday, Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., called it a refinement of the language of the Russell proposal.

Rivers said approval of the House measure would eliminate any notion that potential draftees could find a haven by joining the Reserves.

Russell said that so far as he is concerned there will be no consideration by his committee of the Reserves proposal until the House acts.

Under the House bill, a Reservist who was called up would serve only until he had completed a total of active duty service or active duty for training equal to 24 months, a period comparable to that of the draft.

Murphy Recovering Fast From Surgery

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., who underwent surgery Aug. 25, said today he is recovering rapidly and will leave the hospital Wednesday, his son Dennis said Monday in Hollywood, Calif.

The son said studies of the tumor disclosed a slow malignancy, in its earliest stage. He said surrounding tissue was perfectly healthy. "He's feeling fine and signing letters today," Dennis said. "He will go home Wednesday and will return to Washington in a week or 10 days. The doctors said he would not have to alter his schedule there."

Critics Peck Constantly At Johnson

President Left Speechless Only By Poll Results

By JAMES MARLOW AP News Analyst

But life-long politician Johnson knows it's par for the course for a president to get his lumps in a congressional election year like this and he seems to be bearing up comfortably under the burden of unhappy events.

Republicans, looking to the November elections, have been pecking away at him. Some critics have done it all year. And the polls indicate he's not as popular as he was.

The war in Viet Nam is perhaps his biggest political handicap. Prices and interest rates have gone up. His wage guidelines have been shattered. Inflation is a constant danger. And street riots continue in some cities.

Some Answer Johnson has some kind of answer, satisfactory or not, for almost everything.

The Democrats won control of House and Senate by more than a 2-1 margin in their landslide victory in 1964. But it's traditional in an off-year election like the one coming up for the in-party to lose some seats in Congress.

The Republicans claim they will capture 40 House seats. If they captured just 15 or 20 Johnson would have trouble getting his "Great Society" programs through during the next two years before the 1968 presidential election.

Rent Subsidy If they lost only 15 or 20 seats in the House, the Democrats would still have numerical control but not voting control, since conservative Democrats team up with Republicans too often for Johnsonian comfort.

For example: One of his pet programs — rent subsidies for the poor — just oozed through the House by a four-vote margin, despite the Democrats' 2-1 majority over the Republicans in total numbers.

But Johnson says he doesn't think the elections will make any unusual changes in House and Senate. He's taking no chances. His recent trips to the Midwest, New York, New England and the West were hardly "nonpolitical."

As for rising prices and wages: Twice in the past two weeks he gave a warning that could mean he will bail for price and wage controls if the spiral keeps going up. Yet, the way he said it sounded mild.

He simply called on labor and business to show self-restraint for, otherwise, he said, the government might have to take other measures to control inflation.

While expressing deep sympathy for the condition of impoverished Negroes, he spoke out against riots in the streets, calling on whites and Negroes to show self-discipline and reliance on justice and the law.

City States His administration has been criticized for not doing more to help the nation's dilapidated cities but he said: His administration "has done more than any administration in the history of the country" to help the cities.

Republicans, like Richard M. Nixon, former vice president, predict division over the Vietnamese war will help the Republicans in November while they list the rising cost of living and interest rates as election issues, too.

Republicans generally back Johnson on the war but are his constant critics for his handling of it. A number of Democrats have done it, too.

Johnson hasn't soft-pedaled the war.

But the one thing which seemed to leave him speechless was the Gallup poll report that Democrats prefer New York's Democratic Sen. Robert F. Kennedy to Johnson for the presidency in 1968.

Asked for an explanation of this, Johnson said he had no explanation.

First Grade Pupils Will Learn From Computer

$3 Million Experimental System Designed To Give Each Child Individual Attention

EAST PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — The reading and arithmetic teacher that 120 Brentwood School first-grade pupils will meet in September is a computer system developed at a cost of $3 million in talent, time, and hardware.

The East Palo Alto kids will be pioneers — learning all or most of their reading and arithmetic under computer control for a full school year.

The Stanford-organized project will be the first study of its scope in computerized instruction. Many short-term test studies have been made.

But none has yet been attempted over a full school term with all of an elementary school's first-year pupils relying almost entirely on computer lessons to learn how to use words and numbers.

"Rich Instruction" "This is instruction in a very rich form," said Prof. Richard C. Atkinson, psychologist at the Stanford Institute for Mathematical Studies in the Social Sciences.

"It is geared completely to the individual student," he said. "We feel we will come close to the ideal tutoring situation — with the best teacher doing the best possible job for each child."

With a million-dollar supporting grant from the U.S. Office of Education, a new building will house a specially designed IBM computer and a classroom with 20 learning stations. Each is equipped with earphones, microphone, typewriter keyboard, two TV-like screens, and a pencil light.

Pictures, Words Settled down before his own screens, with earphones on and pencil light ready, a child will learn the meaning, sound and look of the word "bag" this way:

The film screen will show a picture of a bag. An adjoining cathode ray tube will show the words bat, bag and bar. In the earphones a voice instructs, "Touch and say the word that goes with the picture."

If he touches the right word with his pencil light, the computer voice says, "Good. Bag. Do the next one."

If the answer is wrong, an arrow points to the right word while the voice says, "No. The word that goes with the picture is bag. Now touch and say bag." The Brentwood children will move in groups of 26 from the four regular first-grade rooms for 30-minute sessions at the computer stations.

A bright kid may run through an average 30-minute lesson in 10 minutes. With the computer system he can keep going as fast as he is able. A child with unusual problems may have to go through a lesson four times before he masters it. Remedial instruction is under way immediately for those who need it.

History Recorded As each child performs his lessons, the computer records a complete history of how he does. A detailed check thereby is provided on each pupil's progress and on the effectiveness of the lessons.

The writing, recording and film preparation plus the computer programming to meet all conceivable responses has been a five-year effort, Atkinson said.

"It was a horrendous job — the spelling out in utter detail," he said, with a grin.

"But once you've developed an ongoing system, it will be available forever — for everyone."

"We expect to discover a whole new view of what curriculum is like. We know we don't know everything about the learning process."

Atkinson declared that classroom teachers need not fear the prospect of computers taking over their jobs.

"The computers will give them freedom from rote. They will have the time to work at the exciting opportunities in teaching."

The computer teaching project at Brentwood School is located in the tax-poor Ravenswood School District in East Palo Alto, an unincorporated community on the San Francisco Bay flats. It is across the Santa Clara County line from the relatively well-heeled Palo Alto Unified School District, only five miles from the Stanford University campus.

Brentwood is a neighborhood of low-income Negro families where many children have little experience with alphabet picture books or being read to before they start school.

"We expect to invite these children to after-school sessions with the computer," Atkinson said. "We will have a selection of library books that the computer can read and explain to them."

State 47 Mishap Injures 4 Persons

Brakes Fail, Cabbage Truck, Pickup Crash Near Black Creek

BLACK CREEK — Four persons were injured, including a 3-year-old boy, when a pickup truck and a 2½ ton truck filled with cabbages crashed on State 47 about three miles north of Black Creek at 10:10 a.m. Monday.

New London Street Work To Continue

Works Board Okays Project Despite Citizen Protests

NEW LONDON — Work on curb and gutter and bringing Washington Street to grade will continue, despite complaints work interferes with the operation of the new $1.4 million senior high school.

The Public Works board felt that continuation of work at this time would shorten the time during which school would be disrupted.

A number of complaints were registered with Mayor Harry S. Emans and board members on the street's condition and the work carried on during the heavy traffic hours resulting from the opening of school Monday.

City workmen were pouring curb and gutter at the school's main entrance when buses arrived Monday morning which added to the consternation of some parents and school officials.

Washington Street was blocked off to most traffic during the day and students were asked not to park on the Werner-Allen Street boulevard after school opened.

The board said Monday they couldn't begin work on the street while the heavy equipment and other construction was going on at the school site.

Complaints about dust and the street condition have been raised by residents along W. Pine Street, which is located along the southern edge of the new school property.

Ray Pelishek, public works director, said that steady work on Washington Street the rest of the week should enable students to drive down Oshkosh Street to the school parking lot by early next week. Bringing the road to grade and putting in fill should be nearly finished by the end of the week he added.

The street will remain closed to traffic until that time the board decided.

Injured were Lionel P. Young, 35, route 2, Shiocton, his father, Peter Young, 69, and a nephew, Peter Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nordell Young, Bear Creek. Police said Lionel Young was driving the pickup truck at the time of the crash. The elder Young was hospitalized, Lionel and the boy were treated at New London Community Hospital and released, according to reports.

Driver Hospitalized

Milton Zuleger, 48, route 1, Black Creek, was driving the second truck, police said. He was also injured and hospitalized at New London Community Hospital, according to reports.

A county traffic patrolman reported that Lionel Young received cut knees, and cuts on the left arm and left eye. Peter Young reportedly sustained severe cuts on the face and bruises on the body. Reports said the child sustained minor face cuts.

Zuleger was said to have complained of a sore neck and had a cut on the head. County patrolmen said Lionel and Peter Young and the child were rushed to the New London hospital by Seymour ambulance.

Police investigating the accident said the truck Zuleger was driving was going west on County Trunk G and was about to turn south on State 47 at the time of the accident. The young vehicle was moving south on 47 when the accident occurred.

Brakes Failed

Police said Zuleger told them his brakes failed as he was attempting to stop for the sign on County Trunk G. The Zuleger vehicle, filled with cabbage bound for Black Creek, was tipped on its right side by the impact.

The Young pickup truck slammed down a ditch on the west side of 47. In tipping, the entire load of cabbage was dumped into the ditch and surrounding area, filling the bed of the pickup to about one-third capacity with the vegetables. Hundreds of heads of cabbage littered the intersection.

Speaker Named for Christus Brotherhood

CLINTONVILLE — Earl Arnold, Appleton, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Christus Brotherhood at 8 p.m., Sept. 7 at the parish hall. All members and men of the congregation are invited.

Four Persons Were Injured, two hospitalized, when a truck, background, driven by Milton Zuleger, 48, route 1, Black Creek, and a pickup, foreground, driven by Lionel Young, 35, route 2, Shiocton, were involved in an accident on State 47 three miles north of Black Creek at 10:10 a.m. Monday. The larger truck was filled with cabbage which littered the roadway when the vehicle tipped on its side. Both drivers were injured as were Lionel Young's father, Peter Young, 69, and a nephew, Peter, age 3, of Bear Creek. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Developers to Pay Cost of Subdivision Improvements

New London Plan Commission Drafts New Regulations

NEW LONDON — A subdivision ordinance has been prepared by the planning commission and board of public works and recommended for adoption by the city council.

The new plan would require pre-payment of 25 per cent of the aggregate cost of planned public works development in a developer's plat and spread the remaining 75 per cent of the cost over three years at 6 per cent interest for the unpaid balance.

It would apply to areas in which two or more lots are being developed.

Not specified, but covered as public works improvements are sanitary sewer, water mains, curb and gutter and sidewalks. A developer would not have to include all in the first planned work and could wait to install curb and gutter and sidewalk until the need became apparent.

Estimated Cost

Complete improvement of a block long area is estimated to cost about $4,000.

The planning commission recommended the council change the zoning ordinance prohibiting dry cleaning establishments in a

Resident Sues New London

Everett Klinzing Asks $10,000 as Result of Dump Fire

NEW LONDON — The city is being sued for $10,000 by Everett Klinzing, 1402 Lawrence St., for injuries allegedly received as the result of a fire at the city dump Oct. 17, 1964.

City Clerk Melva Rickaby was served with a legal paper recently, informing the city of the demands and reasons for bringing the suit.

A report on the incident was filed with the clerk in October, 1964, and is on file. The matter has been turned over to the city's insurance agent.

Klinzing allegedly was treated for first and second degree burns to both arms, his forehead and the right side of his face on Oct. 17, 1964.

He claims he was emptying a container of papers into a fire at the dump when something exploded, shooting flames onto his body.

New London Fire Chief Attends International Convention at Boston

NEW LONDON — Al Schafer, New London fire chief, returned home Saturday after attending the International Fire Chiefs' Convention in Boston, Mass., Aug. 20 and 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Schafer took a two week trip along the East coast because of plans to attend the convention.

About 1,800 people attended the four-day event, which featured a number of speakers, programs and displays of the various makes and types of equipment.

Some of the foreign lands with representatives at the convention were France, Peru, Australia, Sweden, Greece and Canada.

the State Industrial Commission and that he could not see where it would have any effect on the surrounding area.

Non-Explosive Chemicals

Tietz said the chemicals being used were not explosive in the cleaning process and that if any change in cleaning methods were made the state commission would have to make a re-evaluation of the building plans.

No further recommendations were made by the commission in regard to the rezoning of property at Beacon Avenue and Mill Street for a service station.

Members felt that their recommendation of a month ago was sufficient.

The commission recommended the rezoning from a residential area to business should be granted by the council.

Bound Over to Waupaca Court After Arraignment

WAUPACA — James F. Petersen, 21, route 1, Ogdensburg, arrested Saturday with two female companions following a high-speed chase, was arraigned in Municipal Justice Court Thursday on three counts of issuing worthless checks and two counts of forgery.

He was bound over to County Court for preliminary hearing on the forgery charges. Unable to furnish a $2,500 bond he was returned to the county jail.

His two companions, Carol S. Miller, 18, route 2, West Bend, and Sandra L. Routh, 18, Milwaukee, were arraigned on charges of issuing worthless checks and bound over to County Court for trial. Both girls were returned to Winnebago County jail, where they have been in custody since their arrest when unable to furnish $500 bond each.

Caught After Chase

The trio, the object of a two-count search for more than a month, was arrested Saturday by the sheriff's department following a high-speed chase through the central part of Waupaca County.

Petersen and the two girls allegedly cashed several checks ranging from $50 to $60 in cities throughout the state, officials said. The total amount cashed by the three is believed to exceed $1,000, they said.

Charges brought against the three Monday were for checks cashed in Waupaca County.

Organization's Vice President Makes New Appeal for Solidarity In Bargaining in Chilton Talk

BY LESLIE YOUNGSTADT
Post-Crescent Correspondent
CHILTON — "Agriculture's basic problem is price," E. Pfingsten, national vice president for the National Farm Organization (NFO) told a large group of area farmers and business people at the county NFO meeting here Monday.

Pfingsten explained how farmers can get the prices they should receive by banding together on the national level in the NFO.

"We are selling as individuals to a nationally organized buying power," he explained.

Using meat as an example, Pfingsten said that about 85 per cent of all meat retail is handled by chain stores of which five chains handle over half of it.

Buyers Dictate

Because of this, only a handful of buyers can dictate the prices of meat.

To meet the chain store prices, the packers must buy cheaply from the farmers to make a profit.

The farmer, unorganized as he is today, has no choice but to accept the packer's price.

Here the law of supply and demand does not work, he said, as you have an individual on one hand selling to highly organized industry.

Poor in Marketing

Farmers have become super-efficient in production, Pfingsten pointed out, but poor in marketing.

"We must meet national buying power with national selling power," he emphasized, "before we will get a fair price based on our cost of production."

The NFO, he said, can offer this power to the farmer.

Pfingsten said that he felt dairymen have the worst system of selling there is, because they not only provide the milk first before they know what price they will receive, but they receive a price based on what their milk is used for in the blend system.

Problem Not Limited

He stressed that farmers must be interested in all of agriculture, for the problem of price exists for all commodities.

In the past, he said, we tried to solve our problems by cutting other farmer's throats. To maintain the proper price system, the farmers must take care of eliminating surpluses themselves, he said.

The NFO is prepared to do this, Pfingsten explained, by contracting with all major processors for set amounts of commodities to be contracted for one year in advance. The farmers will then be able to produce to meet these contracts.

Price Incentives

Price incentives will be used to keep surpluses from developing, he continued.

Excessive Tonnage

He explained that in 1955-56 six per cent of the hog surplus developed through excessive tonnage of hogs. At this time the average hog marketed weighed 235 pounds. To control this, Pfingsten said a higher price could have been set on 200-pound animals.

Farmers must have the courage to use their bargaining power which is production, he said.

Through membership in a national organization which could use a holding action to force the processor to pay a fair price, the farmer could be getting a fair price of 100 per cent parity.

At present, Pfingsten said, the farmer was receiving only two-thirds of a fair price.

Withheld Commodities

The NFO holding action theory is simply to refuse to provide commodities to a processor who refuses to pay the required price.

Businessmen use this technique everyday, he said, by establishing a fair price and then not selling for less. Why should the farmers not be entitled to the same right? he asked.

Production is power, Pfingsten reiterated, and it is about time the farmers run their business instead of letting the market establish the prices for them.

"After all, he said, "the farmer has the food first and nobody is going to do anything with it until you let loose of it."

Controls Produce

"Although the farmer may control only 6 per cent of the votes, he controls 100 per cent of the produce."

Approximately a 16-day food supply exists in our country above the farm level if each person were willing to cut their calorie intake to 2,000 per day.

After 16 days, he quipped, there would be many people interested in seeing the farmers receive a fair price!

Since the NFO now offers farmers a way to get their prices, it is the farmer's own fault if he continues to receive unfair prices for his production.

Cheap buying is human nature, he concluded, and if processors can continue to obtain commodities at extremely low prices they will not offer more.

Rural Weyauwega Man Held for Trial On 2 Conduct Charges

WAUPACA — Eddie R. Anderson, 34, route 2, Weyauwega, arrested Sunday at the Waupaca County Fair, was bound over to County Court for trial Monday on charges of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. He was charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. He was charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. He was charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

Darrel D. Allen, 18, route 4, escaped injury about 4:30 p.m. and resisting arrest. He was charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. He was charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

A witness said that the car came county jail. Anderson was arrested by Weyauwega police after allegedly causing a disturbance near the beer stand at the fairgrounds.

Public Hearing Set on New Zoning Map for Waupaca

WAUPACA — A public hearing on a new city zoning map is one that has been recommended by Greene Engineering Co., Middleton, the firm that has prepared a master plan for the city.

Cooperative Venture by 3 School Districts

Pilot Vocational Studies Classes Open at Brillion

BRILLION — The doors of the old Arians Co. plant will open Wednesday as the state's first cooperative training school for high school juniors and seniors. Plans already are being formulated for possible expansion of the program next year.

All phases of metal fabrication, from foundry to machine shop operation, will be offered in a class taught by Glen Mott. The other class being offered to the participants from Stockbridge, Reedsville and Brillion — power mechanics — will include work on all types of diesel engines. Jerome White is the teacher.

Ephasis will be on field education, trips, visits to local industries and lectures for the first two weeks until all equipment is received. Work on 16 small engines will be undertaken first, "better curriculum for less money," Coordinator of the joint training school, Harry Drier, ex-maintain their individual high school, Harry Drier, ex-

have to be set up to phase out the federal aid, they said.

If the program were considered worthwhile by citizens, they eventually could pay operational costs through taxes, but the initial substantial capital outlay would have been paid by federal funds.

A large portion of the $75 million allocated in the United States last year under the Vocational Act went untapped due to details in prerequisites.

Some of these are employment studies, a study of the vocational careers of students, letters from area industries and businesses showing a need for the program, close coordination to seek the needs in the Fox Valley area and letters from city groups showing approval of such a venture.

"Excellent Answer"

Clarence L. Greiber, director of the State Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education, tion, told Drier at the Menomonie conference that the cooperative program is an "excellent answer" to the smaller school districts' educational needs.

A catalyst in the development of the training program here was a research project sponsored by the Fox Valley Curriculum Study Council to study the "educational needs of the non-college-bound student."

A survey of the class of 1964 in 20 Fox Valley area schools reinforced suspicions of school officials that academic needs of male students were not being met. Drier intends to work through the Fox Valley area and letters from city groups showing approval of broadening the program.

Area school administrators will be invited to a meeting in the future with state officials to explain all aspects of such a program.

Manager Tells of Deadlines

Birthdays on 1st of Month Change for Social Security

Frank M. Donnack, manager of the Appleton Social Security office, Monday gave a special notice to people who were born on the first day of a month. He said for social security purposes these people reach age 65 on the last day of the previous month. As an example he said that someone born Oct. 1, 1901 would be considered 65 on Sept. 30, 1966 and could receive benefits for Sept., 1966 if otherwise entitled.

Donnack stated that being born on the first day of a month could be important regarding the Medicare law. To be covered for the month one turns 65 under the supplemental plan and rolled onto its top in the Medicare law, a person must file his claim in three months before he becomes 65. Thus someone born Oct. 1, 1901 would need to file his claim in Aug., 1966 to have Medicare coverage effective with Sept., 1966. If he delayed filing until Sept., 1966 the coverage would not start until Oct., 1966. If he delayed filing until Jan., 1967, he would be past deadline for filing and could not file for coverage until the last three months of 1967.

The second time the first of the month birthday is important is when payments to children terminate at ages 18 or 19 attending school. This to adopt the new map.

One hearing had been held previously on the map but was raised to any of the changes declared void when it was being made.

Donnack said that anyone born learned only one notice of the first of a month should hearing had been printed in the social security official publication instead of until liver Oerter, city engineer, has had an opportunity to study the zoning map to be the proposed ordinance and presented to the public for make any changes.

Church at Greenville To Continue 3 Masses

GREENVILLE — Members of St. Mary Church here voted by ballot to continue having three Sunday masses as during the summer months. Masses are at 7, 9 and 11 a.m.

St. Mary and St. Patrick school, Greenville, opens Thursday with a mass at 8 a.m. School will be dismissed at noon.

Plan Commission Denies Office Building Complex

Seek Petition Revision to Include Residential Property Buffer Zone

A rezoning request by Sylvester Esler which would enable him to construct an office building complex on Appleton's far southeast side was denied Monday by the plan commission.

However, the commission indicated if Esler would resubmit his application with revised plans to develop the several-acre tract, it may give favorable consideration at that time.

Location of Esler's development, which would be for medical offices, is not far from the new high school now under construction.

However, because there are three acres of land between the school site and Esler's proposed building site, the plan commission felt there would have to be some sort of a buffer arrangement.

The three acres are zoned for residential purposes and the ment from the commission to make the necessary revisions.

The commission also: —Approved the sale of the Red Star school building for which the city at last report received an $8,000 offer, but no decision had been made to sell it.

—Failed to go along with the resolution of Ald. Clifford Rader (16th) who wants a law regulating service stations on Wisconsin Avenue. However, after receiving an opinion the resolution appeared to be illegal, the commission did approve the section of the new zoning code ordinance pertaining to gasoline stations. It lists several requirements and restrictions.

—Informally approved detailed plans for converting the old Outagamie County airport property northeast of the city into an industrial park.

Nothing Taken in Break-in at Tavern

CLINTONVILLE — Nothing was taken in a break-in at the Fireside Tavern, located about 2½ miles west of here on U.S. 45, sometime between 1 and 8 a.m. Monday, according to Waupaca County authorities who investigated.

Entry was made by breaking the front plate glass window. The cash register had been rifled but no money had been left in it, authorities said.

Vender Machines Rifled in Break-in at Waupaca

WAUPACA — Six vending machines were damaged and an undetermined amount of money was taken from them in a break-in at the Waupaca Foundry, Tower Road plant, sometime Sunday.

The break-in, being investigated by Waupaca police, was reported to the sheriff's office at 4:30 a.m. Monday when employees reported for work.

The damaged machines were in a lunchroom and contained coffee, candy, soup, cigarettes and gum. They are owned by Zaug Vending Co., Appleton.

A softdrink machine in an adjoining room was also extensively damaged by unsuccessful attempts to pry it open.

Police and foundry officials have not determined how much money was taken or how entry was gained. Once inside the building the thieves used tools found in the building to pry open the machines.

Weyauwega Minister Suffers Heart Attack During Sunday Service

WEYAUWEGA — The Rev. John Dahlke, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, was hospitalized after suffering a mild heart attack Sunday.

The attack occurred during the 8:45 a.m. service, however Pastor Dahlke completed the service and conducted the 10:15 a.m. service.

He was taken to New London Community Hospital early in the afternoon.

Waupaca and Symco '9s' Win

Reach Finals of South-Central Playoff Series

MARION — In south-central BABA playoff action Sunday, Waupaca edged Weyauwega, 5-3, and Symco downed New London, 10-4.

The winner for Waupaca was Bob Weller, and Dave Koehler was the loser.

Weyauwega scored one in the first. Greg Hildebrand doubled and scored on an error.

Waupaca scored two in the first as Dave Peterson singled and Gary Davis homered.

Weyauwega regained the lead in the second as Gary Grossman walked and Nick Wohlt, Dave Koehler and Hildebrand all singled.

In the second, with two out, Peterson homered to tie it. Davis walked, stole second and scored on a single by Bob Weller to put Waupaca ahead, 4-3. In the eighth, Gary Johannecht singled, went to second on a sacrifice and scored on a Jim Strebe double.

Peterson paced Waupaca with three hits, while Gary Davis and Weller had two.

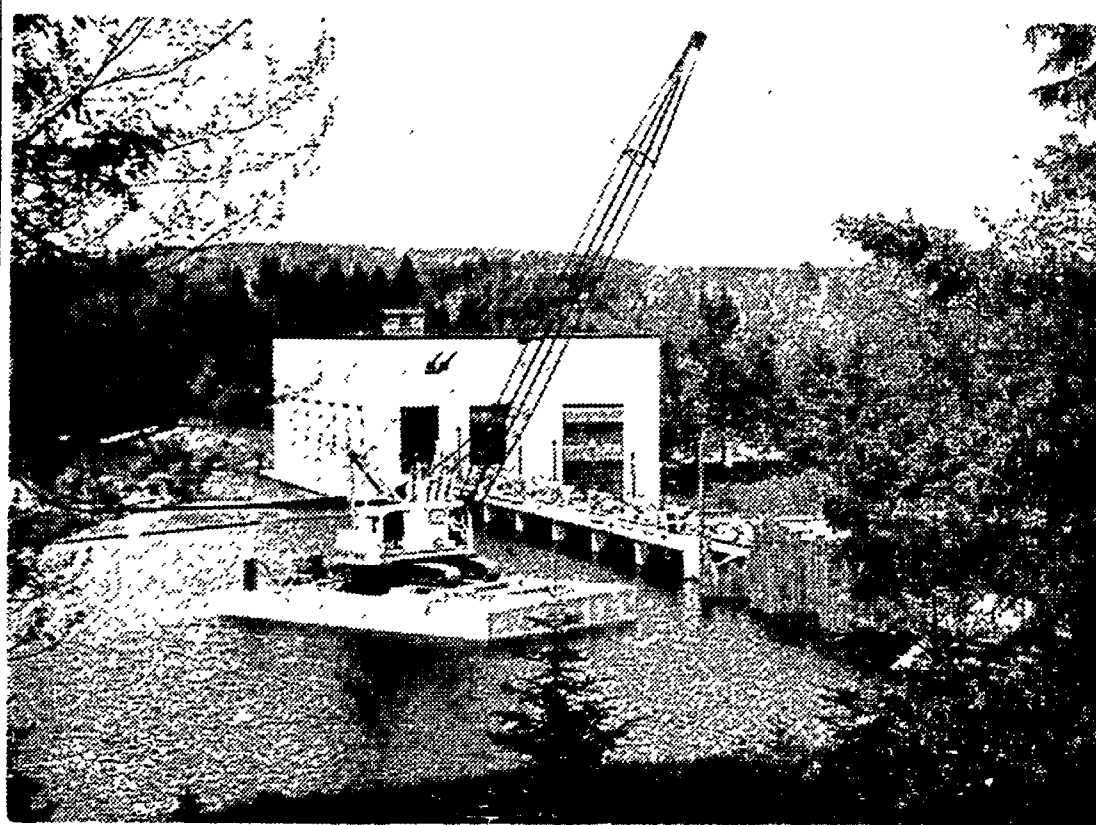

Greg Hildebrand had two hits for the losers.

New London scored one in the seventh on singles by Herb Wilde, Gary Glocke and Jim Wilson and tied up the game in the top of the eighth on a pair of walks and a home run by John Murari.

Symco put the game on ice in the bottom of the eighth with six runs or six hits. Dan Steinbach homered for three of the runs.

Frank Leischow was the winner allowing four hits, fanning 10 and walking 4. Jim Pettit, who was relieved by Gary Glocke after two and one third innings, was the loser.

Symco will be at Waupaca Sunday for the division finale.

This Floating Crane is playing an important role in reconstructing the dam at Wisconsin Michigan Power Co.'s hydroelectric plant near Kingsford, Mich. The contractor, Oscar J. Boldt Construction Co., Appleton, mounted the crane on the barge to solve some tough construction problems. For example, the crane ferries supplies from shore to the dam. The machinery also does some of the actual construction work.

Project on Menominee River

Power Firm Shores Up Dam With 3.25 Million Pounds of Cement

If an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. is well prepared.

This summer, 3¼ million pounds of concrete "prevention" are being installed to repair one of the firm's dams on the Menominee River.

An Appleton contractor, Oscar J. Boldt Construction Co., is rebuilding the dam at the power company's Kingsford, Mich., hydroelectric plant. The contractor has erected many buildings in the Appleton area including the 10-story addition to the Aid Association for Lutherans, but this is his first construction project at a dam.

Plans for the $285,000 project were started last summer after engineers inspected the Kingsford dam. They found the concrete portions were deteriorating, but judged the dam was "safe enough" for many years.

"This just wasn't good enough," J. K. Babbitt, assistant vice president, said. "Immediately we began making plans to rebuild and repair all the deteriorating sections.

Rebuild Piers

The major part of the project is demolishing and reconstructing 10 massive 4-foot-thick reinforced concrete piers. These piers separate the gates regulating the flow of water over the dam.

Other construction includes covering the walkway over the dam to a roadway so trucks can drive on it for maintenance work. New mercury lighting will be installed along the roadway. Concrete around the plant and dam also will be repaired.

"This is the most extensive construction project at the Kingsford plant since it was built in the 1920s," Babbitt stated. Power production will not be reduced during the project, he said as only two piers will be rebuilt at a time.

Construction at the site began in early May when supervisors and special equipment arrived from the Boldt firm. A. Kristian, Jensen, vice president at Boldt, is project manager. Oscar Van Ryzin is project superintendent. One piece of machinery that particularly intrigues riverside observers is a floating crane.

"Tough Problems"

"This crane was specially mounted on the barge to solve some tough construction problems," Jensen explained. "For example, rather than building a temporary bridge to the dam, we can use the barge to life materials directly from shore to the piers."

Defending BABA Titlist Marion Knocked From Playoffs by Tigerton

Two-time defending Badger Amateur Baseball Association champion Marion was dumped from the running Sunday as Tigerton grabbed an 8-6 victory in 11 innings in the western division playoff semi-finals.

Tigerton thus advanced to the division championship match against Clintonville, semi-final victor over Caroline two weeks ago.

Marion and Tigerton exchanged the lead several times in their marathon contest. Tigerton took a 5-3 lead in the fifth on a long, three-run homer by Roger Griepentrog.

Marion tied it in the eighth as pitcher Gary Schlender lost his control and walked three batters, in addition to giving up a pair of singles. After a bases loaded walk to Dave Brandenburg tied the score at 6-all, winning pitcher Howard Sierverson came in and hurled perfect ball for the remaining three innings.

Tigerton scored in the 11th on an infield hit, two stolen bases and two errors. Pat Robenhagen was the loser in relief.

Tigerton will play at Clintonville Sunday for the title, with the winner to play the eastern division champ the following week.

Eastern Playoffs
Leopolis and Menominee County advanced to the finals in the eastern division playoffs Sunday with a pair of close wins. Leopolis edged Shawano, 5-4, and Menominee beat Bowler, 3-2, in 15 innings.

Greg Stezinski hurled a four-hitter for Leopolis, fanning 11 and walking four. Marv Weisnicht was the loser. Al Steinke and Jerry and Duane Asenbrenner each had two hits for the winners.

Menominee's Guy Grignon hit a two-out, bases-loaded single to give his team the 15-inning win.

Vaughn James was the winning hurler, yielding seven hits and fanning 18. Mike Ziener allowed nine hits and struck out 12 in taking the loss for Bowler.

Hatley and Birnamwood advanced to the semi-finals with triumphs Sunday in the BABA's northern division. Hatley edged Eland, 2-1, behind Bob Nigbor's three-hitter. Birnamwood defeated Almon, 5-3, behind the hitting and pitching of Lawrence Resch. Resch struck out 11 in hurling the distance and socked a pair of home runs. Floyd Resch added a homer for the winners and Lyle Kerstner hit one for Almon.

Wittenberg Loses
In the other northern division contest, Eland secured fourth place with a 9-8 triumph over Wittenberg. John Breske was the winner and relief pitcher. Dick Swanson took the loss. Jerry Ananson homered for Wittenberg.

Darwin Ziener's .500 average is tops in northern division batting, according to recent statistics. The Almon batsman will receive a trophy for his achievement. Other top division batters were Birnamwood's Cliff Mortenson, .437; Wittenberg's Swanson, .409; Eland's Arlin Warning, .403, and Hatley's Steve Schulz, .400.

Lawrence Resch and Cliff Mortenson shared the home run title with six each.

Appleton Man To be Charged With Burglary

R. V. Krull, 23, Awaits Hearing On Second Count

Robert V. Krull, 23, 209 W. Pacific St., who is awaiting a preliminary hearing on a charge of attempted burglary, was to be arraigned this afternoon on a burglary count stemming from a break-in Aug. 16 at the Zephyr Service Station, 1349 W. Spencer St.

Three Appleton youths already have pleaded guilty to burglary charges arising from the same incident.

Douglas Londre, 18, route 4, was placed on probation for two years after he pleaded guilty Aug. 24. Two days later, Richard A. Siebers, 21, and Richard Teitzlaff, 18, both of 121 W. College Ave., pleaded guilty of burglarizing the station. They were to be sentenced this afternoon.

The summons against Krull was prepared Monday afternoon by Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer.

Krull is in jail in lieu of posting $5,000 bond. He and Warren (Pepper) Schroeder, also of 209 W. Pacific St., are charged with the attempted armed burglary of the Maritime Tavern here early the morning of Aug. 21.

They also are charged in warrants issued by Winnebago County authorities who allege the pair burglarized the J. C. Penney Co. Store and the Badger Paint Store at the Fox Point Shopping Center, Neenah, early Aug. 23.

Damage Hits $2,200 in Two Accidents

No Serious Injuries Reported After Waupaca Mishaps

WAUPACA — Damage in excess of $2,200 resulted from two accidents Monday, although no serious injuries were reported.

A car pulling a camping trailer and driven by Joseph J. Gaertner, 39, St. Paul, Minn., was traveling south on School Street when a northbound car driven by Kenneth Dode, 18, route 2, Weyauwega, crossed the center line and struck the car and trailer, according to police. The mishap occurred at 11 a.m.

Dode told police dust blew into his eye and he could not see, causing him to lose control of the car. Dode was issued a summons for inattentive driving. Damage to each car was estimated at $400 and $300 to the camping trailer, according to police.

Overturned in Ditch
Denis L. Wilson, 24, route 3, escaped serious injury when the car he was driving left a section of highway under construction near the southern edge of the city and rolled over in a deep ditch at 8:15 p.m.

Wilson was traveling north on Churchill Street and left the roadway on a slight curve where the street now joins the east interchange of the U.S. 10 bypass. Damage to the 1966 model car was estimated at more than $1,000.

Wilson was wearing a seat belt at the time and suffered only minor bruises, police said.

Opener Sept. 9

Chilton Grid Fortunes Based on 18 Lettermen

CHILTON — Eighteen lettermen have greeted Chilton High School football coach John Gebhart, Al Geiser, Dan Holst, John Hauser, Leroy Meyers, Ron Nicolay, Jim Pfeffer, Tom Thurwachter, George Lux and Ron Woelfel. Dombrock will miss about two weeks due to a knee injury.

Other prospects Thome has high hopes for are senior Francis Schmitz, juniors Ron Hillman, Ken Mand, Tom Lintner and Clyde Lorenz and sophomore Tom Woelfel.

Thome rates his defense as the team's strong point and depth as the weakness. He figures his team should have fair speed but will be small in size. Tom Klein, a tackle, is the biggest player on the team at 6 feet and 215 pounds.

The Tigers will play an eight-game schedule, one less than last year, with four home and four road games. The team scrimmaged St. Mary of Menasha last Saturday and is scheduled to scrimmage Sheboygan North at Sheboygan this Saturday.

The 1966 Tiger schedule: Sept. 9 — Kohler Sept. 16 — at Cedar Grove Sept. 23 — Kiel Sept. 30 — New Holstein Oct. 7 — at Sheboygan Falls Oct. 14 — at Valders Oct. 21 — at Plymouth Oct. 28 — Elkhart Lake

Trap Shoot Jamboree Attracts 300 Gunners

NEW LONDON — The blast of shotguns reverberated through the hills surrounding the Fish and Game Club as more than 300 persons took part in the club's annual Trap Shoot Jamboree Sunday.

Gunners began shooting at clay targets about 10 a.m. and continued until late in the day. Competition was held in 10 and 25 rounds for merchandise prizes.

A total of 57 different shoots were held during the day. Gunners shot at 5,535 clay birds (41 cases) during the course of the competition.

Tuesday night City Trap Shoot League teams staged their final matches of the season Sunday to determine the three class winners and the top league shooters.

Fish and Game Club ended the season with an unscathed 12-0 mark. The host team downed Rickbeil's Hardware 101-95 in the final match. Rickbeil's won the Class B championship with a 9-3 record.

Other teams finishing at 9-3 were Meartz Insurance, Morien Decorators and Radtke Tree Farm. All had a higher total of birds broken during the season and were rated in Class A.

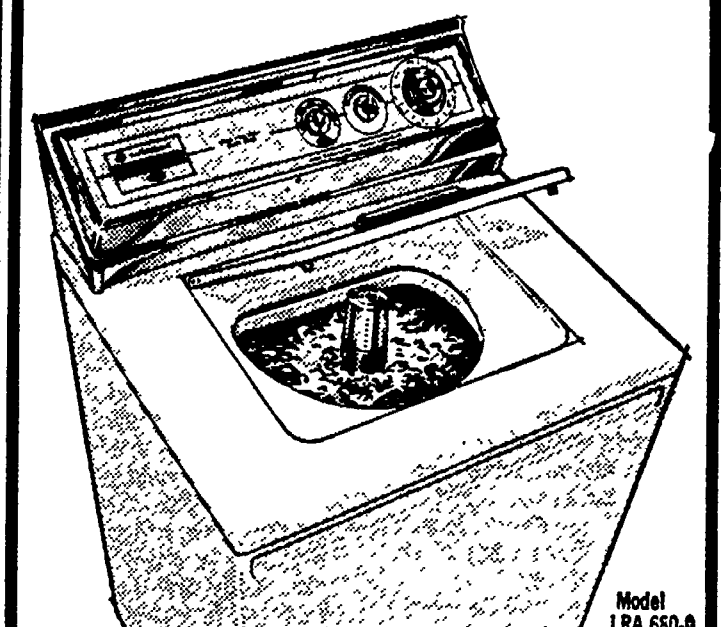

Jaeger's Service Station captured Class C honors with a 4-8 mark.

Team scores Sunday had Morien's beating Jaeger's, 91-66; Radtke's thumping Tom's Super Service, 101-68; Meartz edging Rainbow Supper Club, 96-93; New London National Bank tipping Curwood, 69-62, and O'Neil Supply beating Don's Supper Club, 80-69.

Richard Fritz, Fish and Game Club, won the high individual title for the season with an average of 22.4 birds. Craig Shambeau, Radtke's, was runner-up with a 22-bird average and Lee McIlraith, Meartz, was third with a 21.6 average.

Tuesday night trap shooting under the lights will continue at the club even though regular league competition has concluded.

WITH GIANT 18-LB. WASHING CAPACITY

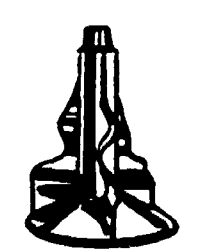

COMPARE

The regular RCA WHIRLPOOL washer capacity will meet the needs of most families, but this super-capacity washer is great when big loads pile up on you.

Tub and agitator are both extra large

When a normal-size washer tub is placed next to our new giant-size tub there's a visible difference. Our new tub is larger . . . holds more water, more clothes. Does a better washing job on big loads.

See the difference between the agitator of a normal-capacity washer and the new super SURCILATOR agitator. The super SURCILATOR is larger . . . to move more water and more clothes. Yet it's gentle enough to pamper dainties, too.

Convicts Commandeer Train in Freedom Bid

FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP) — Two escaped convicts, one with a loaded shotgun, commandeered a Southern Pacific Railroad train with a five-man crew in a desperate bid for freedom.

For almost two hours Monday, the pair threatened the hostages and then pleaded for their own lives with a 70-man posse waiting at the end of the track.

The train's slow, 35-mile ride followed the old Butterfield stage route along which masked holdup men worked in the late 1800s.

There were 21 empty ore cars standing between the engine and caboose when Edward Schiffauer, 28, and William Henry McCallister, 21, jumped aboard the caboose at Kelvin, where work crews were repairing track.

Faced Shotgun

"I turned around, and I saw a 12-gauge shotgun in my face," Mel Hardy, the conductor, said. "The guy with the shotgun (McCallister) was the leader. They said, 'Don't move, don't move!' and I didn't move."

McCallister and Schiffauer ordered their hostages in the caboose to radio the engineer to move the train.

Engineer Charles R. McGowan started the train, saying later, "I went slow because I figured if these guys decided to run for it, I didn't want to do anything to keep them from it."

McGowan moved the train about 15 miles an hour down the tracks. Overhead, an Arizona Highway Patrol plane kept in radio contact with a sheriff's posse and guards from the state prison at Florence from which the pair had fled on foot more than an hour earlier.

Sheriff Coy De Arman climbed into the caboose of a train on an adjacent track and talked with the two convicts. After 10 minutes, during which he refused their plea for time to run in exchange for the lives of the hostages, the pair surrendered.

replied quickly. "I think I would certainly know."

In addition to his Cabinet post, he is a key member of the National Security Council.

"There is no question that the CIA is operating under policy direction," Rusk said.

Rusk told the group in its first session last week that the United States was not overextended. But he is expected to be closely questioned about this — particularly dealing with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization — at the closed part of today's hearing.

Senator's Warning

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, the ranking Republican on the Senate Armed Services Committee, the parent body of the preparedness group, cautioned Monday that the war may go on for another five years.

"Let us have no illusion about it," he told Naval Air Reservists in a speech at South Weymouth, Mass. "Before we are through in Viet Nam we will have to increase our troops and our targets there, just as our defense budget will increase."

Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, had some grim predictions on the cost.

He told the House that at the present rate of spending the Pentagon may need $5 billion to $15 billion more this fiscal year to fight the war.

50-50 Chance
If costs zoom toward the upper limit, he added, "it's a 50-50 chance" that a tax increase may be needed to pay for them.

The White House and French sources had no immediate public comment meanwhile on Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's proposal that President Johnson and French President Charles de Gaulle get together to discuss ways to try to end the war.

Mansfield suggested Monday in a Senate speech that his proposed summit meeting be held on the French island of Guadeloupe in the Caribbean, after the French president confers with Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodian chief of state.

De Gaulle is scheduled to begin talks with Sihanouk in Cambodia today and is to stop off at Guadeloupe toward the end of his world trip.

Rio Grande Floods, Brings Much Damage

PRESIDIO, Tex. (AP) — Muddy waters of the flooding Rio Grande covered approaches at both ends of the International Bridge here today as reports of heavy damage filtered in from northern Mexico.

Torrential rains in Mexico were blamed. Further rises were expected on the Rio Concho, which flows northward into the Rio Grande just above the companion towns of Presidio and Ojinaga, Mexico.

Defense ministry spokesmen in Mexico City reported earlier that the Rio Grande, Concho, San Pedro and Florida had isolated about 6,000 residents of at least 18 villages. There was no word of any deaths.

At Candelaria, Tex., about 70 miles up the Rio Grande from Presidio, Frances Howard said Mexican refugees from Los Fresnos told her they were able to leave only by crossing the mountains on foot.

"They have lost everything and I just don't know what they are going to do for food this fall and winter," Mrs. Howard said of people in the area across the border from Candelaria.

Mrs. Howard said the Rio Grande was dropping slowly at Candelaria.

At Presidio, John R. Link of the U.S. Customs Service, said the Rio Grande had climbed to 17 feet and was still edging up.

"That's the highest it's been er half an hour of picketing on the sidewalk beside his red brick home.

He said he had conferred five times by telephone and in person with the demonstration leaders and was willing to continue the talks. But, asked if he thought any change in the situation was likely, the judge replied: "Ask the NAACP."

The judge, who had helped integrate hotel accommodations in Florida during spring training for major league baseball players for whom he served as legal adviser until this year, rejected any suggestion that he resign from the Eagles. He said he preferred to work within the organization to alter the membership policies.

Cannon, who recalled aiding Negro athletics in obtaining jobs as business executives, said, "If I'm not color blind, I don't know it."

"We look on Judge Cannon as a symbol of segregation," said Sidney Finley of Chicago, a field director for four states for the NAACP, as he conducted an impromptu news conference in the street in front of Cannon's home.

Easiest to Convince
Nate Harwell, 22, a spokesman for the Negro youths, said the protesters had singled out Cannon as their target because they felt he would be "easiest to convince" because of his liberal attitude toward minorities.

The nightly demonstrations began Aug. 19 but did not reach feverish pitch until crowds of screaming whites streamed into the neighborhood over the weekend. Knowles described it as "an extremely incendiary type of situation" when he called out the Guard again Monday.

The troops kept the area cordoned off Monday night and there were only two arrests. No injuries were reported.

Sam Dawson, AP Analyst, to Retire After 18 Years
NEW YORK (AP) — Sam Dawson, business news analyst for The Associated Press for more than 18 years, will retire Wednesday.

He will be succeeded by John T. Cuniff as author of "Today's Business Mirror," a daily column for afternoon newspapers.

Dawson, 65, wrote his first column in 1948. It soon became one of the most widely published business columns in the country and was read by millions.

Dawson joined The AP in New York in 1925. He left two years later to work on newspapers in Arizona but returned to The AP staff in 1937 as correspondent at Tucson, Ariz.

After service with the Army Air Corps in World War II, he came to the business news department in New York.

Cuniff, 37, has served on the business news staff for more than five years. He has been editor in charge of the business news desk for the past three years.

At this time, Link said, "and it still lacks 4 or 5 feet here of being as deep as the 1953 flood (which inflicted considerable damage)."

the same area Monday, and guerrillas along the shore exchanged fire for 20 minutes with four patrol boats accompanying the minesweeper.

Heavy currents broke the Bat-on Rouge Victory loose from its salvage mooring early today and a flood tide carried her upstream half a mile. Six tugs and other salvage craft towed the ship down the river later today to Vung Tau, on the coast, where repairs will be made.

South Vietnamese pilots flew another 48 sorties.

The U.S. 3rd Marine Division ended Operation Allegheny in the ricefields 15 miles southwest of Da Nang. The Marines reported killing 113 Communists in the sweep, which began Aug. 20. Their own casualties were moderate, a spokesman said.

Red China issued an invitation to Communist guerrillas everywhere to rise up so "U.S. imperialism can be nibbled up bit by bit." Together with a harsh new attack on the Soviet Union, India and Japan for allegedly plotting with the United States to encircle China, the official party newspaper Peking People's Daily predicted a global outbreak of revolutions once American military might is destroyed.

Technical Assistance
Mao Tse-tung's regime also stepped up its competition with the Soviet Union for influence in Hanoi by promising new economic and technical assistance to the North Vietnamese for their "fight against U.S. imperialist aggressors." Radio Hanoi said Chinese and North Vietnamese officials signed a non-refundable aid agreement in Peking Monday.

Back from a visit to Hanoi, a group of Japanese Socialists reported in Tokyo they found President Ho Chi Minh determined to continue the war 20 or 30 years unless the United States settles on North Vietnamese terms. These include unconditional withdrawal of American forces.

However, the Socialist spokesman, Kanejiro Tate, a member of Japan's lower house of Parliament, said the North Vietnamese want to keep the 1954 Geneva agreement on Viet Nam alive. Peking has declared the agreement dead.

Cincinnati, Beloit Shoe Firms Merge
CINCINNATI (AP) — Merger of the Freeman-Toor Corp. of Beloit, Wis., with U.S. Shoe Corp. of Cincinnati was approved by U.S. Shoe shareholders Monday.

Shareholders also elected to add H. O. Toor, chairman of Freeman-Toor, to the U.S. Shoe Board of Directors.

The number of outstanding shares was increased from four million to five million by the shareholders.

U.S. Shoe Chairman Joseph S. Stern and President Philip G. Barach said this will be their company's first entry into the men's footwear field.

In other action, Toor was named chairman of the executive committee, and Nathan Stix was appointed vice chairman of the board.

Freeman-Toor, which operates 10 plants throughout the country, will function as a U.S. Shoe subsidiary. President of Freeman-Toor is Leon Richmond.

Can Kennedy Make It in 1972?

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has become the favorite candidate among Democrats for the 1968 Democratic presidential nomination, according to a recent Gallup poll. The poll shows 40 per cent favor Kennedy and 36 per cent favor President Johnson.

Being the favorite candidate in 1966 and gaining the nomination in 1968 are two distinct things, as has been pointed out by many politicians. Much of Kennedy's popularity can be attributed to the fact that he has been in the limelight a great deal the past six months. He has toured Africa, criticized the Johnson Administration for its Viet Nam policy and most recently criticized Los Angeles Mayor Samuel Yorty for not providing leadership in solving that city's problems, particularly the problems of the Negro ghettos.

These factors, along with the Kennedy name, his dynamic political image and voter dissatisfaction with some of the Johnson Administration's domestic and foreign policies seem to account for the rising popularity of Kennedy.

While there is no question among political observers that the New York senator is seeking the presidency, very few, if any, predict he will make the attempt in 1968. Most observers feel Kennedy will wait until 1972.

To oppose the incumbent president, especially without a strong organization in each of the 50 states, would not only create a great deal of resentment within the party towards Kennedy, but could result in a major, if not fatal political setback for Kennedy.

While President Johnson was noncommittal last week when asked if Hubert Humphrey would be on the ticket again in 1968, there is little possibility that Kennedy would accept the vice presidential nomination in 1968. Although the office would provide some prestige for Kennedy, it would severely limit his opportunities to declare his stand on various issues as he would be obligated to defend the policies of the Johnson Administration, as Humphrey has had to do.

There are several factors which will bear heavily on whether the New York senator can win the presidential nomination in 1972. He must win re-election to the Senate in 1970 and also build an organization in all 50 states which will be able to deliver the delegates at the national convention in 1972.

Kennedy must also find a way to remain in the limelight for six years. There is no question that he is popular now, as evidenced by the more than 100 requests he has received to speak in behalf of Democratic candidates throughout the nation.

There is no question that Robert Kennedy is aiming at the presidency. Whether he will be successful in reaching his goal is unpredictable, as is the role of a man named Johnson in the political future of Robert F. Kennedy.

One Cost of War

General William Westmorland, the American commander in Viet Nam, has ordered that all possible measures be taken in the fighting to cut down on the number of civilian casualties. More recently he has specifically set up conditions which must be followed before United States planes may open fire on small boats.

A series of errors and tragedies within the last few weeks precipitated the directives. A Vietnamese village, alleged to be harboring members of the Viet Cong, was fired upon with casualties to a considerable number of peasants and no real assurance that any Viet Cong were injured or even present. A U.S. Coast Guard cutter was strafed by American planes and two crewmen were killed. A village across the border in Cambodia was attacked with loss of life to non-Vietnamese. In addition have come reports of a lot of near misses of similar tragic error.

In part there has apparently been some poor communication between American ships and the other military units on shore. The border between Viet Nam and Cambodia is not only poorly defined but the Vietnamese and the Cambodians don't agree where it is in many places. But the major reason for the high percentage of "accidental" casualties is the nature of the Vietnamese War.

There are no front lines. Except for the cities, the rest of the country is practically one huge no-man's land. Despite pacification efforts, villages which appear to be friendly to the South Vietnamese one day may be threatened by Viet Cong terror and harbor snipers on the next. Hard-pressed American troops, often battling an enemy they cannot see, must make the awful choice between firing on a village or risking being blown up. Certainly language difficulties and what appears to be a growing confusion about the war by the Vietnamese contribute to the mistakes and the distrust. And while the Coast Guard cutter appeared to have adequate identification for the pilots to realize it was an American ship, it is generally difficult not to become trigger-happy in this sort of war.

There is probably no real answer to the problem and we expect that civilian casualties will continue to mount. War is by nature a brutal business even to many people who would have no part in it.

The Nosy Census Bureau

A House subcommittee is holding hearings on plans for the 1970 census and well it might. There are a lot of questions being proposed that certainly are a violation of privacy.

Before the 1960 census was taken, it was proposed that a question of religious affiliation be included but the idea was dropped because of opposition. Now Ross Eckler, the director of the Census Bureau, says that the question merely became "an emotional issue" and that he doesn't think many people would object to it now. Moreover, it would aid church groups and help amass sociological data such as interfaith marriages and how they work out. The data could help in marketing religious products, assist in making plans for schools, churches and hospitals and in fact be of benefit to just about everybody.

But since everyone questioned in the census is required by law to answer, a question concerning religious affiliation would certainly appear to violate the spirit of the First Amendment. An individual's religion simply is not the business of the United States Government or any of its agencies.

There are some other questions that are equally as bothersome. The Civil Rights Act of 1964 in a little noticed provision requires that the Census Bureau collect data in 1970 on voting habits and registration. Certainly this would seem to conflict with the whole idea of the secret ballot although it might not be legally so declared. There have been suggestions also that questions on medical histories be included, again a highly personal matter.

The bureau chief insisted that the census records would not be turned over to other governmental agencies such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Federal Bureau of Investigation. But there is no such assurance in this day of overwhelming government interference.

Stock Growers Buy 20 Acres

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Aug. 30, 1866.

Not long since we published the list of Officers elected for the ensuing year by the Stock Growers Association. The Association is incorporated by Act of State Legislature and has completed its organization, and purchased and paid for 20 acres of land just outside the City limits, at $50 an acre.

The purchase was made by Mr. F. Hammond.

Last Saturday a half-mile track, 40 feet wide, was staked out. It soon will be broken up and graded. A fine track for practice, and racing will be the result.

Next year the Association designs fitting up their ground in a suitable manner for the annual exhibitions of the County Agricultural Society, and for use for the monthly stock fairs.

A few more shares of the stock of the Association are for sale. Shares are $10. The holding of one share of stock constitutes a person a member.

25 YEARS AGO

The Germans that day captured the Russian city of Novgorod and drove their battle lines within 25 miles of the strategic Moscow-Leningrad Railway.

Eric Peterson was elected commander of the Oscar Tilson Post, American Legion, at Clintonville. He succeeded Dr. Robert Braun. Other officers elected were Evan Vaughan, vice commander; Earl Siebert, finance officer; Michael Kamla, adjutant. Other officers were to be appointed by the new commander.

A "confusion" party was being planned for members of North Shore Golf Club with breakfast scheduled for 11 p.m., cocktails between 8 and 9 p.m., and dancing in between. "Breakfast at eleven, instead of dinner, will help to make the fat curls thinner," stated the rhyming invitations, which started out on the premise that "the world is filled with much confusion, ideals are shot, all is illusion." Committee members were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Purdy and Miss Barbara Jennings, all of Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Kimberly, Neenah; Mr. and Mrs. William Roemer and Fred Leech, all of Neenah.

10 YEARS AGO

The Menasha Kiwanis Club was to sponsor an indoor circus in the fall with George Williams named chairman of the planning committee. Others included Jack Williams, George Wachter, Jay Joslyn and John Suchodolski.

The St. Paul Church team won the Neenah church softball tournament. The champs included Cliff Anderson, Bill Sund, Don Gomoll, Doug Anderson, Darrell Schultz, John Hiddle, Bill Willins, Gib Loose, George Strohmeyer, Jim Powers, Charlie Shepard, Ruf Ihde, Tom Malchow and Ron Hunsicker.

Tom Puls, 20-year-old Fond du Lac amateur golfer won the championship trophy in the 16th annual Northeastern Wisconsin Golf Association Open. Bob Below, from the Neenah Ridgeway Club, finished third in the competition as Puls and Chuck Beaumont, Sheboygan, played a "sudden death" birdie putt of 20 feet on the second playoff hole.

Johnson-Kennedy Rivalry Distorts True Meaning of Cities Hearings

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — Hypersensitivity at the White House, and the coincidence of a poll, have given the impression that the Senate hearings on the cities are a contest between Lyndon Johnson and Robert F. Kennedy.

Wrongly, and unfortunately,

so. For in the process, their differences have been exaggerated and distorted. And as a result, there has been opened an easy way to avoid answering the really interesting kind of questions about the cities.

Senator Kennedy's basic point is that not enough, not nearly enough, is being done for the big cities. He is undoubtedly right, and that is why he and the chairman of the hearings, Senator Ribicoff of Connecticut, have been having such a field day.

They have been able to show that there are deficiencies all across the board in urban America — in housing, health, transportation, education, management, police protection, and relations with the states and suburbs.

Almost certainly, moreover, the worst is yet to come. The testimony due this week from sociologists, psychologists and other private tollers in the urban vineyards will probably expose the shame of the cities as never before.

The villain of this piece, however, is not the President nor his administration. And properly handled, the hearings need not have been made to look like adversary proceedings against the administration.

LITTLE CHANCE FOR NEW MONEY

The President can point to all the new programs now up before the Congress — the civil rights bill, the teacher corps, the rent supplement, the demonstration cities program, the mass transport bill and others. While the money being sought for these measures and others is limited, the President could reasonably argue that, given the pressures of inflation and the Vietnamese war, there was little chance for getting more money.

That argument could be completed with the discreet hint that once the new programs are authorized, the way would be open to expand appropriations. The President, in other words, could take the position that he was doing the best possible — that he was following the strategy of getting the camel's nose under the tent.

But such is the President's sensitivity that he took the hearings as a personal challenge. His response was to pose an invidious comparison between his own administration and that of President Kennedy.

The tone was set by the first administration witness, the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, Robert Weaver. At the explicit direction of the President, Secretary Weaver changed his testimony to make it a paean of praise for the administration. A typical addition was the claim that "this administration has moved farther and faster with more understanding and with more sense of purpose to respond to the needs of our cities than any administration before it."

The President himself reaffirmed that note in his New England tour. And when a Gallup Poll showed that Senator Kennedy was leading him in popularity among Democrats and independents, it came to seem that the only issue at stake in the city hearings was the battle of personalities.

The first sad consequence of that distortion is that it becomes easy for guilty parties to beg off by attributing all the trouble to a fight between the President and the senator. Thus Sam Yorty, the ineffectual mayor of Los Angeles, has been able to represent his gross failures as simply a case of being caught in "a cross-fire of Bobby Kennedy's efforts to undermine Lyndon Johnson."

Worse still, the truly serious question implicit in the hearings — the question that is hard to answer but that everybody should be asking — is buried. This is the question that truly divides the President, who has been against, from the senator who has been for. It is a question of whether or not, given the demands of Viet Nam, inflation and domestic needs, there ought to be a tax increase.

1944 Flynn Prophecy Bears Repeating Now

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The following excerpt from the book "As We Go Marching," composed during World War II and appearing in book form in 1944, by John T. Flynn, is singularly prophetic in view of the current state of affairs involving our government intervention: (The recently deceased Mr. Flynn was a regular broadcaster on radio station WHBY for several years.)

"Fascism will come at the hands of perfectly authentic Americans, as violently against Hitler an Mussolini as the next one, but who are convinced that the present economic system is washed up and that the present political system has outlived its usefulness and who wish to commit this country to the rule of the bureaucratic state; interfering in the affairs of states and cities; taking part in the management of industry and finance and agriculture; assuming the role of great national banker and investor, borrowing billions every year and spending them on all sorts of projects through which such a government can paralyze opposition and command public support; marshalling great armies and navies at crushing costs to support the industry of war and preparation for war which will become our greatest industry; adding to all this the most romantic adventures in global planning, regeneration, and domination all to be done under the authority of a powerfully centralized government in which the executive will hold all the powers with congress reduced to the role of a debating society. There is your fascist."

Only 67 Men Have Sat On Bench of State's Highest Tribunal

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The child is taught that there are three coordinate and separate branches of the state government, but sometimes he may be inclined to wonder about the relative obscurity of the State Supreme Court as public discussion and political competi-

Court since the creation of Wisconsin statehood.

Counting those who served on the Territorial Supreme Court between 1836 and 1848, Wisconsin has had 67 men who served as members of its highest appeal court.

Lately turnover on the court has been higher than in previous periods principally because of the new rule requiring retirement at age 70. Since 1957 eight justices have taken their seats, which is probably a higher rate of change than the court ever experienced before.

Many contemporaries who remember the long service of the late Chief Justice Marvin Rosenberry have tended to assume that his 34 years on the bench set a Wisconsin tenure record. This reporter's curiosity led to a check and a reminder that all-time record for length of service was made by Orasmus Cole of Grant County, one of the leading men of 19th Century Wisconsin. He served for 37 years between 1855 and 1892, and for 12 years as chief justice.

NEW SYSTEM

Lawyers and others recently have argued that the elective system of Wisconsin Supreme Court and trial court recruitment should be eliminated, or substantially modified.

Yet there has been little evidence of response. Perhaps one reason is that a substantial proportion of judges are not actually recruited through election. Five of the present seven members, for example, were appointed. Once on the bench, the judge is comparatively secure. Rarely is a sitting member defeated when he runs. Additional stability is assured by the 10-year term, which is by far the longest provided for any elective office.

The question of election is probably debated not so much for its relation to stability or quality of the court, but for the inconvenience, and, in some views, the indignity of requiring a man to doff his robes at long intervals to court the good will of the electorate. It requires some money, and that requires some fund solicitation which is unpleasant to sensitive men. There is also the awkward problem of method. There is very little a campaigning judge who respects his own dignity can do save deliver little lectures on legal theory and judicial administration, and shaking hands at local bar meetings.

Strictly Personal

Social Conscience Is Disappearing Virtue

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A recent news story related that a man was shot while standing beside a counter in a department store. Although there were 150 persons in the store at the time, police were unable to find any witnesses to the shooting.

One of the most serious flaws in our social system is the growing unwillingness to make even a small sacrifice for the sake of the community. The desire to "keep out of trouble" far outweighs any twinges of social conscience.

The modern world has grown so huge and impersonal, has become so smothered in restrictions and red tape, that most people are reluctant even to testify as witnesses to a crime. The incentives for decent civic behavior have diminished almost to the point of invisibility.

My insurance agent recently told me about one of his clients, who stopped on a deserted road to pick up the victim of a hit-and-run driver.

When the police questioned this conscientious motorist, they insinuated strongly that HE had hit the pedestrian, and gave him such a bad time that he resolved never again to perform this same generous act.

A young lady who heard this tale then remarked that she, too, had suffered because of her scruples. Leaving a party one evening — having had only a couple of cocktails — she brushed the fender of the adjacent car while trying to get out of her parking space.

She rang the doorbell of the house in front of which the damaged car was parked, and said, "If that's your car, I dented the fender. I'm fully covered by insurance, and I want to leave my name and license number."

Instead of being grateful, the indignant householder called the police, who took the young lady down to the station for a "drunkometer" test, kept her for several hours, and then turned her loose crying hysterically — for her father is a prominent man, and she feared the publicity.

"If I had done as most people do," she said ruefully, "and simply driven off after scratching the car, no one would have been the wiser, and I would have stayed out of trouble."

Staying out of trouble has become the creed in modern society, and no one in particular is to blame for it. We are all trapped in the flywheel of the machine age, and we prefer to be anonymous cowards rather than courageous individuals.

The real curse of bigness is the loss of our self-respect.

There Is No Certain Cure for Psoriasis

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: My son has a severe case of psoriasis and believes that a no-protein diet will help him. What is your opinion? — J. F.

Psoriasis is one of the most aggravating maladies we know because nobody to date has found any sure cure for it. Oh, yes, there are plenty of proposed remedies, but we are so much in the dark as to the exact cause of this skin condition that we have no satisfactory way of attacking it. And as with every unexplained ailment, the result is a host of suggested remedies with no assurance that any will really be a cure.

When, for any ailment, a reliable remedy at last appears, then the other proposed remedies quickly fade out of use.

Fortunately psoriasis ordinarily does no harm except to one's appearance, and it is not contagious. It just looks bad!

Different kinds of diet have been tried but have not been found effective. One school believes a high-fat diet is helpful. Another school prefers a low-fat, high protein routine.

So you see there is a wide difference in opinion.

More recently taurine, one of the amino acids, (a protein) has been suspected of being poorly tolerated by psoriasis patients. To reduce intake of taurine, it is necessary to limit the amount of protein from animal sources, and to use special cooking procedures to leach out the taurine.

This is not a "no-protein" diet, but one that restricts it. Care must be exercised in using the diet, especially among adolescents who, still growing, are more urgently in need of protein than others.

Thus any attempt at such a diet should be under strict supervision of your physician.

I don't condemn any sincere and careful method of treating — or trying to treat — psoriasis. In any event, most of the many proposed remedies have seemed to work in certain cases, although since psoriasis can come and go without any visible reason or even stop without any treatment at all, it is hard to say whether a remedy really has worked or just happened to be in use when the psoriasis subsided spontaneously.

My own preference is to put such a case under the supervision of a dermatologist with use of one treatment or another primarily aimed at keeping the skin soft and preventing itching.

That, at least, lessens the risk of having infection start because of scratching the scaly patches.

Exposure to sunshine or to some other source of ultra-violet, also seems to help — but again, don't be disappointed if it doesn't cure the problem. It tends to help and that's the best I can say.

tends to help and that's the best I can say.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please differentiate between Parkinson's disease and multiple sclerosis. — A. H.

The essential difference is that in Parkinson's the hands (and other parts of the body) tremble in a "pill-rolling" motion, because of a disorder of a part of the brain which governs muscular activity.

Multiple sclerosis, involving hardening of scattered areas, in the brain or spinal cord, can resemble Parkinsonism superficially, but the major symptoms are weakness, jerking movements and lack of co-ordination rather than mere trembling. Movements of the eyes and speech mannerisms also may be involved.

Note to Mrs. J.B.: I see no reason why chronic colitis should impair your ability to have children.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Molner's helpful booklet, "How To Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling. (Copyright, 1966)

Coon Hunters Plan 'Howl In' With Dogs

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — More than 100 members of a coon hunters' group plan a literal "howl in" here Thursday to protest earlier hunting season dates.

If the State Game and Fish Commission fails to send a representative to discuss the hunting season dates, a spokesman for the protesters said, "We're going to Atlanta on a bus and we're taking our dogs with us."

Despite Rumor, Rusk to Remain As Secretary

President to Ask State Head to Stay 2 Additional Years

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

A firm decision has been made inside the Johnson administration that Dean Rusk will stay on as Secretary of State at least until the 1968 elections.

Contrary to published speculation, Rusk has no intention whatever of leaving the State Department as long as President Johnson asks him to remain, and the President, it now can be reported, has decided to ask Rusk to stay on at least two more years.

Moreover, it is highly prob-

able that Under Secretary of State George Ball, who for some time has wanted to quit, will be replaced in the No. 2 State Department post by a man inside the department — not an outsider as was formerly the plan.

All this rules out the reshuffle of the high level State Department hierarchy which had seemed so probable a few months ago and for some time has been demanded by liberal critics of the Johnson foreign policy. And with no new faces in Foggy Bottom, the chances for a change in even the tone of the President's Viet Nam policy are slight.

Plans Altered
Until quite recently, the President had intended to name a prominent outsider — a lawyer or business executive, preferably — to replace Ball. The new Under Secretary of State, it was widely assumed in Washington, would then go on to replace Rusk shortly after the 1966 election.

But the talent hunt for Ball's successor has proved fruitless. Clark Clifford, a prominent Washington lawyer and one of Mr. Johnson's closest foreign policy advisers outside the Administration, was offered the job but turned it down for personal reasons. White House aides admit frankly that efforts to locate an available lawyer of Clifford's stature have been unavailing.

The decision by Republican Sen. Robert Griffin of Michigan to hire a controversial California public relations firm to handle his Senate campaign against Democrat G. Mennen (Soapy) Williams was born out of desperation rather than ideology. Griffin signed up the San Francisco firm of Whittaker and Baxter simply because he badly needed to put his campaign in order, but that doesn't stop Democrats from using Whittaker and Baxter to paint Griffin as reactionary. In fact, some Michigan Democratic tacticians are urging that this be made a major part of the effort against Griffin.

Although Whittaker and Baxter has played both sides of the ideological street in California, its image is definitely conservative. Its last major political effort was a nationwide propaganda effort in behalf of the Dirksen anti-reapportionment amendment. Robert Smalley, Whittaker and Baxter vice-president who is in Michigan to run the Griffin campaign, was press secretary in 1964 for William Miller (second man on the Goldwater-Miller ticket).

Needed Expert Help
Contrary to rumors that Whittaker and Baxter was imposed on Griffin by right wing Michigan businessmen, it was suggested by Michigan state Republican chairman Ellie Peterson. An outspoken liberal, Mrs. Peterson felt Griffin needed expert help immediately without regard to the ideological credentials of the helpers.

Earlier, Griffin had unsuccessfully sought two liberal former state chairmen — Lawrence Lindemer and John Feikens — to manage his campaign. One party pro suggested for the job by Gov. George Romney was vetoed by Griffin as too young and inexperienced. It was at this point that Mrs. Peterson suggested Whittaker and Griffin.

A footnote: Griffin, appointed to the Senate by Romney to fill the vacancy left by the death this year of Democrat Pat McNamara, has gotten high marks from skeptical Democrats on the Senate Labor Committee. Expecting a right wing ideology because of his authorship of the 1959 Landrum-Griffin Labor Act, liberals such as Robert Kennedy of New York and Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin have been impressed by Griffin's knowledge of labor law and ideological flexibility.

The main reason why the 1966 South campaign of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., in Grenada, Miss., has failed to explode onto the nation's front pages is the close but secret working relationship between the U.S. Justice Department and the Mississippi Highway Patrol. When it appeared a few weeks ago that Grenada was on the verge of violence, Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach quietly persuaded the State Patrol to step in and protect King's civil rights demonstrators — just as they had protected the Mississippi marchers last spring at Justice Department urging. With patrolmen on the scene, Grenada was placid.

Actually, this was no favor to King. His campaigns depend on the kind of white violence he has attracted in Chicago.

The Secondary Love Story in Attic's musical, "Annie Get Your Gun," skips right along with these three actors, Ricky Vander Velden, Kaukauna, left, plays romantic Winnie Tate while Jeff Hager, Scandinavia, portrays her lovesick suitor Tommy Keeler. Mamma Tate, Mrs. Donald Coon, Appleton, disapproves the match, thereby causing trouble for the young pair. The musical at 8:15 p.m. tonight and Wednesday in Lawrence Music Drama Center, closes Attic's season. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Stone Ruins Near London To be Toured

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 Channels 2-12 — The Mystery of Stonehenge, a special, is for rock lovers with a sense of history. In this sometimes wry, sometimes dry report, Charles Collingwood and Alexander Kendrick tour the massive stone ruins on Salisbury Plain, south of London. There's also a chat with astronomer Dr. Gerald Hawkins of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory who says the stones were used in 1500 B.C. by ancient Britons for astronomical purposes. (COLOR)

6:30-7:30 Channels 4-5 — Up With People, the controversial special turned down by CBS-TV and then syndicated, pops up with its first network airing. It's an exuberant session heavy on patriotism and good will. Although the main theme is "love everybody," it doesn't hesitate to take pot shots at beatnik anti-war demonstrators and folks who won't wave the flag. Pat Boone is host and instigator of sermon-like songs sung by 130 clean-faced, short-haired youths, including the Colwell Brothers and the Four Green Glen Singers. (COLOR)

6:30-7:30 Channels 11-6-9 — Combat's sentimental and brutal tale, "Retribution," concerns Jack Hogan's courageous if not lame-brained plan to get even with the Germans for killing his sister's fiancé. Before he knows it, he lands in the chilling hands of a particularly nasty colonel.

7-7:30 Channels 4-5 — "How Now, Hausfrau?" on Please Don't Eat the Daisies is coy, cute but occasionally corny. Joan and Jim bravely face a newspaper columnist who finds it difficult to believe the weird things happening in their house. (R-COLOR)

7:30-8:30 Channels 2-7-12 — Hippodrome's center ring is enlivened by Bill Dana's (Jose Jimenez) wisecracks: Dusty Springfield's throbbing ("The Mood I'm In") and the Everly Brothers' tunes ("Bye Bye Love") and "The Price of Love"). There's also a hefty supply of circus acts and the Central Band of the Royal Air Force of Great Britain. (COLOR)

8-8:30 Channels 11-6-9 — "The Phantom Major" on F Troop has several funny moments. Bernard Fox, as an expert in the art of camouflage, almost steals the show from the regulars when he arrives at Fort Courage to teach the boys tricks he learned as a Bengal

Lancer. The Hekawis soon adopt them, too. And the finale — when troopers can't tell their men or the injuns from the trees — is a hoot. (R)

8-10 Channels 4-5 — Tuesday Night at the Movies, "It Started With a Kiss" ends with a glib, mushy smack of contrived army humor. Glenn Ford, a sergeant at a charity bazaar, not only wins a new car but wins Debbie Reynolds as a bride. Eva Gabor and Fred Clark also are active in this. A 1959 MGM release. (R-COLOR)

8:30-9 Channels 2-12 — Petticoat Junction gently ribs sob sisters who soak up human miseries. Kate is persuaded to write an advice-to-the-lovelorn column. (R-COLOR)

9-10 Channels 11-6-9 — The Fugitive is in the eye of a hurricane in an engrossing encounter with old foe, L. L. Gerard. Kimble is spotted with a migrant farm family, toiling in the fields near the Gulf of Mexico. (R)

Sopwith Snipe (Honest) Crashes at Air Show

RHINEBECK, N.Y. (AP) — A pilot flying a nearly half-century-old plane made a crash landing during an airshow here and walked away with only minor cuts.

Paul Richards, piloting a 1918 Sopwith Snipe, was coming for a low pass when the engine quit and the plane, smashed into the ground nose first.

Sing-Out Special on NBC Network Tonight

Moral Rearmament Singers to Give Musical Program 'Up With People'

About 130 young people with a message will present the program "Up With People" on an NBC, coast-to-coast hook-up at 6:30 p.m. The hour-long TV special in color will be telecast on Channel 5 in this area.

It's not a brand new show, but a taped version of the original touring show that's been half-way round the world and across country since last year. The record album based on highlights from the show calls the production the "Sing-Out Musical." The taped show has been given in several metropolitan areas.

Scheduled by CBS in July, this network cancelled its showing on the charge that "Up With People" violates network policy in that it promotes an editorial viewpoint in the name of entertainment. The sponsoring firm bought another hour on another network.

Emcee Pat Boone Actor Pat Boone emcees the program as its host, but he does not sing. Some of the music is that of talented young people in the show, planned, written, rehearsed and polished under the sponsorship of the Moral Rearmament Movement.

The whole thing started as an idea in 1964 when high school and college youth attended the MRM summer training facilities on Mackinac Island. The next summer the young people began to work seriously on a musical program, which culminated in what they called a Sing-Out. When they appeared at a Moral Rearmament Center in Japan, they were invited by the Japanese government to tour that country. The group later performed in South Korea, also with governmental blessing.

When the group returned to the United States, it started a swing through the United States, singing its songs about freedom, honest work and a fair day's pay, the equality of all men along with a plea to end poverty and strife. They performed at military installations and on college campuses.

As a result, the original singing group has grown so that today there are three groups prepared to "sing out" in the next 12 months in the United States.

The young people were given a 24 minute standing ovation at West Point, and an even longer one when they sang at the U.S. Air Force Academy. They also sang at Annapolis and before former Presidents Eisenhower and Truman.

The musical also was given throughout West Germany in May of this year as "Sing-Out '66." German youth now have their own Sing-Out units.

Featured songsters in the musical are The Colwell Brothers, who created the songs "Freedom isn't Free," "The Ride of Paul Revere" and the title tune "Up With People." These three brothers are neither newcomers to songs of this type nor are they amateurs. They have been singing for the last nine years in such places as the Congo, India, Japan, Viet Nam and 32 other nations, according to the promotion copy on the jacket of the "People" recording.

The Green Glenn Singers, organized in 1965 to write "Sing-Out" songs in folksong style, are another starring group, a feminine foursome. Two featured vocalists with the choral group are soprano Linda Blackmore, who stars in the "Ballad of Joan of Arc," and operatic tenor Charles Woodard, former Florida college student noted for his presentation of "Which Way America?"

It also must be noted that the taped television show was professionally produced with Tom Cole listed as its producer and Dick McDonough as director.

Woman Warns Those Who Are Parts of Love Triangles

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was the "hypotenuse" of a love triangle and therefore I'm qualified to speak on the subject. I'd like to make a plea through your column to every woman who is involved with a married man.

Please put yourself in the place of his wife. Can you conceive of her private heartache and public shame if her husband should die of a heart attack in your apartment or in a back-street cafe or a motel when you two are hiding out?

How would the story look in the newspapers if you two should become involved in a serious accident? What if the car hits an oil slick, or the boat springs a leak, or the bleachers collapse? Far-fetched? Yes, of course, but such things happen.

The wife may not be aware that you exist. Can you imagine her humiliation when she learns? And of course if there are children, what would it do to them?

Please give some thought to all the implications, girls, the next time you date a married man. — One Who Didn't

Dear One Who Didn't: Cheaters often live in a world of fantasy. Your letter may bring some of them back to reality. Let's hope so.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a teen-ager (19) but I'm a rock and roll disc jockey, too. My work brings me into close contact with hundreds of teen-agers everyday. They dig me and I dig them.

If you've said it once you've said it a thousand times, "Most boys will take whatever is offered, plus whatever they can talk a girl into — or out of. It's up to the girl to turn him off."

This is true, Miss Landers, but I know some nice guys who got into trouble and it was the girl's idea. Some boys don't want to get involved in heavy lovemaking but when a girl moves in and takes over, the temptation is too much for a normal guy.

So please, Ann Landers, say something. It's time the boys were relieved of some of the responsibility. — D. P. the D. J.

Dear D. J.: You've been so busy spinning those discs that you've missed some of my columns. I've said plenty about it.

I'm well aware it's not always the boy's fault. I've said repeatedly that unless a boy uses a lead pipe or chloroform, the girl is responsible for whatever happens to her.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife is very friendly with a woman she used to work with before we were married. The woman is attractive and pleasant and has remained single.

The other evening she confided in my wife that she is having an affair with a man (unmarried) she has known only a few months.

I am so disgusted that I find it impossible to be civil to her. Am I justified in telling my wife not to invite the woman over again? If I am wrong, how do I put her behavior out of my mind? — Mr. Disappointed

Dear Mr.: Who appointed you judge, jury and chief executioner? Although I can understand your disappointment, there's something wrong with an individual who can't be civil to those who don't live up to his standards.

If you are unable to be decent to the woman suggest that your wife see her when you are not at home.

Is a heavy drinker an alcoholic? How can you tell? Is there a cure for alcoholism? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Alcoholism — Hope and Help." Enclose with your request, 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tin Oxide Helps Rid Bad Stain

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: Our bathroom countertop is green-veined white marble. Some stubborn yellow marks appeared when I spilled some hair preparation (I think). I got most of it out with a good cleanser, but it turned the marble dull.

How can I bring back the luster? And how can I give it protection against future problems like this?

A: Lots of rubbing with a damp felt pad and putty powder (oxide of tin) will eventually restore the original luster. This really takes plenty of time and elbow grease.

If you haven't a polishing wheel attachment for your electric drill, and a lamb's wool buffing hood for it, you'll find the investment well worth while.

You'll do the polishing much faster, and the drill will supply the elbow grease — not your arm and shoulder.

Putty powder is available at any stone works or monument yard. A thin, well-rubbed coat of water-white wax will give a good protective shield for quite a few months.

Note: If somebody's hair tonic puts yellow stains in marble,

Daughter's Engagement Announced

NEENAH — Mr. and Mrs. William B. Meyer, 400 11th St., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Helen, to Robert W. Reetz, Madison. Parents of the bridegroom-elect are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Brandt, Kaukauna.

Miss Meyer was graduated from Lawrence University and is employed by the Waukesa Public School System. Her fiancé attends the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

what will it do to scalp and hair? Switch brands!

Q: Where can I get information on repairing cracked driveways, sidewalks and steps?

A: Your local branch of the Portland Cement Association, or its headquarters, Address: 33 West Grand Ave., Chicago. They have helpful, free literature on anything involving concrete.

Q: The roofing contractor covered the new addition to our bedroom with a built-up, flat roof. It consists of tar paper in three layers, with hot tar between each layer, and the top as well.

However, he said we should not have a topmost layer of pea gravel or white marble chips, because in case someone walked on it, this would drive the particles down and eventually cause a leak.

What is your opinion?

A: I disagree, but for another reason. In the first place, this type roof definitely is not made for any foot traffic, with or without gravel.

But more important, in my opinion, is that a layer of white marble chips will make the space below much cooler than with a covering of heat-absorbing black tar and paper. The light colors reflect heat away, while white and aluminum most of

Waupaca Fair Features Flower Show

Sponsored by Weyauwega Club

WEYAUWEGA — A hot dry summer affected the number of entries in this year's horticulture division of the Waupaca County Fair, held Thursday through Sunday at the Weyauwega fairgrounds. Hot weather Saturday and Sunday, the two days of the flower show, had a wilting effect on some of the loveliest specimens.

Exhibitors had four categories in which to compete. The specimen section included dahlias, gladiolus, white and colored, celosia, coxcomb, roses, phlox, yellow and orange marigolds, zinnia, cleome and bells of Ireland. Entries were judged on plant material and suitability of container.

Bouquet Section
Flower growers had a choice of 26 varieties of flowers in the bouquet section. Dahlias, asters, pansies, petunias, phlox, cosmos, marigolds and zinnias were among those selected for entry. Bouquets of one variety were judged on arrangement as well as plant material and suitability of container.

Artistic arrangements allowed the use of fillers and foliage to add depth to the displays. Plant material, design — including color, texture, line and container, originality and conformance to theme were used as judging points in this section. Corsages, the Japanese influence, dried arrangements, Thanksgiving arrangements and miniatures were among the classifications in the category.

House Plants
House plants, including African violets, begonias, cacti, coleus and others, were the fourth type of entry. Terrariums were included in the category.

The Weyauwega Garden Club again had charge of the flower show. Mrs. Rolland Paschke served as general chairman.

The local club also donated bouquets to the harness race winners.

Some of the Entries in the smallest arrangement category are shown above. The classification permitted arrangements of six inches and less. Below, Mrs. William Lawrence, a member of the Weyauwega Garden Club which helped supervise the horticulture exhibits, inspects the top winner in the novelty arrangement category. Mrs. Frank Radtke, Weyauwega, used a lettuce background to set off carefully arranged garden vegetables. The display featured tomatoes, onions, kohlrabi, beans, carrots, beets and dill.

Double Ring Ceremony Performed

Miss Mary Ann Klemp became the bride of Harold Heier at noon Saturday at St. Joseph Catholic Church. The Rev. George Henseler, O.F.M. Cap., officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Klemp, 926 W. Eighth St. Parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. John Heier, Oconto, and the late Mr. Heier.

Maid of honor was Miss Gail Gelschow. Miss Jeanette Kolosso, Miss Judith Nehring, Miss Shirley Heier and Mrs. David Doefler.

Jon Erdmann performed the duties of best man.

Robert Klemp, Michael Moen, Kenneth Dace and James Weinke were groomsmen. Lloyd Heier and William Olinger seated guests.

The couple was honored at a reception at Van Abel's Restaurant, Hollandtown.

The bride is studying X-ray technology at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital, Neenah. Her husband, a student at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, is with Ken's Service Center, Neenah.

The couple resides at 212 Third St., Neenah.

Two Little girls visiting the Waupaca County Fair were attracted by the flower show and spent many minutes at the holiday arrangement display. Thoughts of Thanksgiving weren't far off, even though summer is still here. Looking at the ceramic turkey filled with flowers, above, are Holly Rae and Tammy Rae Borchardt, route 2, Shiocton. At right Peggy Nowak, Weyauwega, is shown with the all-white arrangement entered by Mrs. Emil Prah, Weyauwega. The blue-ribbon winner combined various sizes of zinnias with artemesia.

Statewide Cancer Project Planned

A statewide Conquer Uterine Cancer project will be conducted among all the homemakers clubs in Wisconsin. The project, sponsored by the Wisconsin Extension Homemakers Council in cooperation with the American Cancer Society, will start in fall. Its prime purpose will be having each club member get an annual health checkup, including a "Pap" smear.

According to Mrs. Gerald

Napiezinski, state health chairman of the Wisconsin Extension Homemakers Council, Manitowish, there will be approximately 750 needless deaths from uterine cancer in Wisconsin this year. The disease is almost 100 per cent curable when detected early, using the "Pap" smear.

Encourage Participation

There are 297 Homemakers Clubs in Wisconsin with 42,569 members. Each member will be encouraged to participate in the life-saving project.

Other clubs cooperating in the project are the General Federation of Women's Clubs, National Council of Catholic Women, the National Council of Negro Women and the Pilot Club International.

Bride-Elect Feted at Shower

CLINTONVILLE — Miss Penny Strong was guest of honor at a miscellaneous bridal shower recently at the home of Mrs. Larry Brisco. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Brisco, Mrs. Richard Rose, Milwaukee, and Miss Joann Popp, Shawano.

Miss Strong, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Strong, route 1, Clintonville, will become the bride of Robert Popp Saturday at Peace United Church of Christ, Shawano. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Popp, Shawano.

numbers of marriageable young women."

If the pattern continues, the sociologists said, "over a half million women will have to postpone getting married."

But the young bachelors better enjoy it while they can. In the 1970s, the ratio will return to 99 guys to 100 gals.

Young American Girls Face Long Wait—or Spinsterhood

BY DOUG BAILEY
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The country is caught in the middle of a marriage squeeze.

It looks like a half million or more young girls are going to have to postpone their first marriage, or get hooked to somebody they would have passed up in normal times, or — worst of fates — not get married at all.

The cause is the baby boom that followed World War II. The babies are grown up now and the girls are looking for husbands.

Too Young

The trouble is that gals get hitched younger than guys, ages 18 to 22 for females versus 20 to 24 for males. And most of the guys who were born during the baby boom aren't old enough, statistically speaking, to march to the altar.

It was all described today to the American Sociological Association convention by two men from the U.S. Census Bureau, Paul C. Glick and Robert Parke Jr.

Can Solve

In a paper they said: "Generally speaking, the squeeze can be resolved in any or all of several ways."

"By the boys marrying for the first time at younger ages."

"Or by the girls marrying for the first time at older ages."

"Or by the girls marrying older widowed and divorced men, or older single men who might otherwise have never married."

"Or," and here the paper lets out the brutal news, "it is possible that more girls will ultimately not marry at all."

Going Down

The hard facts are that in the late 1950s there were 99 marriage-age young men for every 100 marriage-ready girls. But in the early 1960s, the figure dropped to 94 guys for every 100 gals. Right now, it is down to 93 fellows for every 100 females.

In the cautious phrases of the scientists, Glick and Parke struck a statistical blow for the American male.

"The evidence so far suggests that in the first part of the 1960's, the marriage squeeze was resolved in large part by changes in the marriage patterns of the women, and not by alteration of the trend of ages at first marriage for men."

He's Winning

Holy Name Expects 900

Enrollment Drops At Kimberly School; Reopens Thursday

KIMBERLY — An enrollment of some 900 students is expected when classes begin Thursday at Holy Name of Jesus Catholic School. The figure is down almost 200 from last year's total, according to Sister Stanislaus, principal.

The school eliminated second grade this year and these students will attend the public school, accounting for the decrease.

Students will attend 8 a.m. mass and abbreviated morning classes Thursday. Full-time classes will start Friday.

The seven new faculty members are Sister Rachel, third grade; Miss Elaine Barrett, Sister Mary Lois and Sister Barnabas, fourth grade; James Basil and Harlan Rhodes, sixth grade, and Sister Eugene, seventh grade.

Lutheran Pupils At Kimberly to Total About 90

KIMBERLY — Ninety students are expected for the 1966-67 school year at Mount Calvary Lutheran School, an increase of two over the previous year, according to Verlyn Fuhrmann, principal.

School will begin with a 9 a.m. service on Sept. 6 after which an orientation session will be held with students dismissed at noon. Full day classes will begin Sept. 7.

Enrollment this year shows 12 first graders, 18 second, 9 third, 11 fourth, 11 fifth, 13 sixth, 7 seventh and 9 eighth. The principal will teach sixth through eighth grade and Miss Vicki Jerde will return as first and second grade teacher. The third, fourth and fifth grades will be taught by Miss Doris Gross who previously taught at Fairfax, Minn.

A Lovelier You By Mary Sue Miller

Fall fashions make demands to your efforts: Lie back down on your carriage. The T-dress on floor, clasp hands behind fits like a long sweater. A-neck and bend knees until soles shapes, although broadened at of feet are firmly grounded, the hemline, are sufficiently soft. Now tense stomach muscles and and skimmy to silhouette the without letting feet leave floor, figure. You only have to try pull up to erect sitting position, them on to know whether you can be posture-proud.

Both styles accentuate figure flaws and lose their own clean lines in the bargain, unless your posture is above average. As pointed up, some of the figure problems are due more to slumped carriage than to over-weight. The pouchy abdomen is an instance. Slouchiness makes for pouchiness!

Many lovelies claim that they just cannot hold the tummy in. Well, you are not supposed to. That is a job for your muscles and should be a reflex action. Muscles are unable to perform, however, if weakened through poor posture. Then you have to act for them by pulling up and in as best you can. The oftener you do it, the quicker the muscles tighten and take over their rightful work.

As a bonus both the stomach and the waist trim down. To speed results, add this routine

Long-Haired Youth Missed as Mister

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller couldn't be faulted in New York City when he got the sexes confused.

He was campaigning for reelection Monday night in Greenwich Village before a crowd sprinkled with beatniks. Some of the men wore shoulder-length hair.

When one of the male beatniks asked a question, Rockefeller replied, "Yes, madam." The crowd roared with laughter.

Green Bay Setting for Tournament

GREEN BAY — The Wisconsin State Pair Championship bridge tournament will be held at the Beaumont Inn, Sept. 9 to 11. The three day event will be sponsored by the Green Bay Duplicate Bridge Club and members of the Y Men's Bridge Club. Both groups are affiliated with the American Contract Bridge League. Players from throughout the middle west will compete in seven sessions.

The site of the State Pair Championships is moved annually, and its return to Green Bay will mark the first tournament held here in 20 years. The arrangements committee is working under the auspices of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan Bridge Association. Dr. William A. Horne, vice president of WUMBA, is general chairman of the tourney.

The dates of tournament play are Sept. 9, Men's and Women's Pairs, 8 p.m., and Nite Owl Game 12:30 a.m. on Sept. 10; Early Bird Game, 9:30 a.m.; Open Pair Qualifying Round, 1:30 p.m.; Open Pair Finals, 8 p.m.; on Sept. 11, Mixed Pair, 12:30 p.m., Special Pair Game, 12:30 p.m., and Open Team of Four at 6 p.m.

Lucey Would Trim Power of Special Interest Groups

SPECIAL INTERESTS have taken over state government under the Knowles administration, charged Patrick Lucey, leading Democratic candidate for governor. "Bankers, utility officials and special interest lobbyists have been appointed to major posts by the governor. The public has been left out in the cold."

"All of these special interests are big contributors to the Republican campaign chest," Lucey stated. "They have bought control of state government. We need to put the public interest in the driver's seat."

Primary election is Tuesday, September 13th.

Refuse Containers Get Trial Run

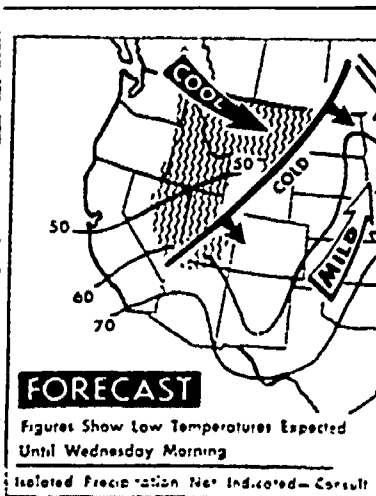

Two types of metal refuse containers — among several being considered for purchase by the city — are being given a "trial run" on College and Wisconsin Avenues.

"We have one in front of the Viking Theater and the other on the sidewalk in front of Un-muth's drug store near a school," Acting Works Director Donald Bengs said today.

Putting the small metal containers on display for public use on a tryout basis was authorized by the street-sanitation committee.

They reportedly are the least expensive containers available and city officials are testing their durability.

Paris Fashions as Gay as the City Itself

Yves Saint-Laurent showed a look that is young and kicky. Over his tartan pants suit, above, he places a wild mink coat. The jacket waist is defined by a black leather belt. The woolen cap matches and brown suede gloves and brown boots complement. At right, Saint-Laurent shows a short coat for fall and winter. It is red wool with a black belt and pockets, worn over a dark blue jersey dress embroidered with golden nails. The head-hugging hat is fur.

Now it's Paris' turn. Designers who help draw the international fashion picture are presenting their fall and winter lines on the boulevards and side streets of Paris. The press observes . . . and discovers that 'gay Paree' is as young and swingy as its reputation.

Skirts generally adhere to the knee or just above length that has made the scene in New York for fall. Occasionally, as Bohan did for Christian Dior, a costume is accompanied by a very long coat—just plain common sense for the kind of winter that demands warm clothing. Under the coat, however, the skirts are short.

There is wide use of fur . . . mink lined hoods that match plaid suits, or, if not incorporated directly into the costume, it becomes integral in the hat or another accessory. Scarves and belts are important in fashions presented for fall and winter. So are boots. The look is not radically different. Women are already tuned in for what Paris is showing.

A Havana Wool jacket and skirt are worn over a brown leather blouse in this design by Yves Saint-Laurent. The jacket and its pockets are embroidered with gold nailheads. The helmet-type hat is leather and the shoes are brass-colored satin. (AP Wirephotos)

Pierre Cardin created this tartan suit in white, black and beige, with a black leather pocket on the jacket's right side. The buttons are also leather. The wide scarf is really a convertible collar and is trimmed with black mink.

Couple Marks 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Welhouse Sr. celebrated their 50th anniversary Saturday. A mass of thanksgiving was offered at 11 a.m. at St. Pius Catholic Church.

A dinner was held at 1 p.m. at pressures may be tying him up emotionally so that he doesn't dare speak, for fear of what he would say to you. It will probably help if you ease up on pressures like this.

Beige and Black were combined by Jeanne Lanvin of Paris in this checkered woolen ensemble. It is worn with a matching scarf fastened to the jacket with a single button. A black castor hat, black leather shoes and beige gloves complete the look. At left, Marc Bohan, designing for the Christian Dior fall and winter show, presented a bright red woolen long coat with high waistline. The jacket matches, and has a large black belt. The fur hat is black astrakhan.

Truant Teen-Ager May Need Someone to Come Home To

all bad. Her father has a good job and we buy her nice clothes year-old daughter has been playing truant from school ever since the eighth grade. I have talked with her, taken her privileges away, and whipped her; but she doesn't care. She is very nonchalant about everything. I work and am not home when she leaves for school or when she comes home. She starts dinner every night and she helps me with the housework on Saturday, so she isn't daughter, and so you can be in the house when she comes home from school in the afternoon.

Knowing you are willing to sacrifice something in order to prove to her you're concerned about her is likely to be much more convincing to her than having you punish her. If you can't rearrange your day, how about asking her older sister or a neighbor to give her more attention? She needs someone to come home to.

DEAR DR. JONES: My three-year-old grandson can only say two words: "Yes" and "No". Otherwise he points to what he wants. He understands everything. He can point where every part of his body is and he is a very clean and neat little boy who picks up all his toys, puts socks in his shoes, hangs up his clothes on hangers, and knows where every dish goes. He can't stand to be dirty. He eats with a knife and fork and is completely toilet trained.

I only talked Hungarian to him until a few months ago, but I don't think that would be why he doesn't say anything, do you? After all, he could have learned to say Hungarian words to me if there weren't something else wrong. What could it be? He has no children to play with, so he spends all his time with me and his grandfather. MRS. A. D.

Enroll him in nursery school at your earliest opportunity so he can have friends his own age to talk with. At home, don't let him get things simply by pointing to them. Tell him what you believe he is "saying" to you and tell him that only when he talks to you in words will you do what he wants. You will have to be hard-hearted for several days.

Write me in a few weeks to let me know how things are going. I am worried that his extraordinary neatness may be a result of too much pressure from you. Such puts up the ace and runs three clubs to get rid of dummy's heart. We can never get a heart 'trick.'

"Your play was still wrong," Damon insisted. "If I had the jack of clubs a heart return would beat him. The diamond return is a give-up play."

Damon was right because in theory the heart return might beat the contract and the diamond return could not. Pythias was right too, because in the actual hand the heart return would have done no good.

Still, Damon and Pythias had such a squabble over a hand in which they were both right that they stopped playing as partners and now barely talk when they meet. Do you still think bridge players are sane?

130 Teachers Get Welcome To Appleton

Annual Reception Includes Luncheon, Tour of Duty

Approximately 130 teachers, beginning their first year with Appleton public and parochial school faculties, were welcomed to the city Monday at a Butte des Morts Country Club reception sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce's industrial division.

The sixth annual reception was capped with a tour of Appleton and 27 host films in the area.

Featured at the event was a luncheon and address by Kenneth Haagenen, assistant to the vice president of marketing services and public relations, Allis-Chalmers, Milwaukee. The title of Haagenen's address was "You'll Like It Here, Too."

The invocation was delivered by the Rev. Clifford J. Pierson, pastor of Memorial Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Norbert Vandeloo, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, gave the benediction.

Serving on the Chamber of Commerce committee handling reception arrangements were Edward F. Douglass Jr., chairman; Everett Lee, Miss Viola Pelzer, Brother H. Richard, W. H. Spears, George E. Schoenke, Wayne E. Rowan Sr., Lloyd F. Taylor and James Westphal.

Appleton has been requested to send at least one representative to the annual Congress of American Cities at Las Vegas, Dec. 2-7.

Sponsored by the National League of Cities, which has communities throughout the United States, including Appleton, the Congress is a series of seminars for government officials.

Mayor Jerome Cavanagh of Detroit, where the Congress was held last year, is president of the league. He has sent an invitation to Mayor George Buckley to attend.

Clarence Mitchell was a member of the Wisconsin delegation at the 1965 Congress. The League of Wisconsin Municipalities is affiliated with the National League of Cities.

CNW Plans to Sell Land in Kaukauna

14 Acres Costing $122,500 To be Available by Early 1967

KAUKAUNA — Members of the board of public works and more of the parcels. The land, located west of Main Avenue, south of the power canal and north of Second Street, currently is utilized for railway switching operations, but it is expected that all major switching operations will be handled at the Appleton Junction late this year.

Railway crews are expected to start pulling rails in the area early in October, depending on the labor market. Old buildings on the property are under lease to paper firms in the area, but these leases can be terminated on 30-day notice.

Individual parcels consist of one-third acre costing $17,500; three acres costing $25,000; eight acres costing $58,000; and three acres costing $12,000. The railway representative indicated that local businessmen had expressed interest in securing some of the land and shopping center developers from Chicago, Ill., and Milwaukee had been contacted to determine interest.

He felt the railway could hold the offer to the city for 30 days to permit aldermen to study the proposals and determine whether the city would be

Apparent low bids for construction of a 5,200-foot crosswind runway at the Outagamie County Airport total $999,267.

Bids were opened late this morning at the Outagamie County courthouse by Joseph Abernathy, chief engineer for the Wisconsin State Aeronautics Commission.

The unofficial bid total is about $112,800 less than the latest revised cost estimate, it was learned.

A total of 19 firms bid on the project, including eight for grading, four for paving and seven for electrical.

Raemisch Construction Co., Middleton, was low bidder in Schedule 1 (grading), with a bid of $211,890, followed by Pluck Construction Co., Stevens Point, with $214,462.

Fox Valley Construction Co., Appleton, with a proposal of $222,656, was the lowest of four bidders for the paving work.

Wieseler Construction Co., Appleton, was second at $748,970.

Electrical Work A Kiel firm, Household Utilities, Inc., submitted the unofficial low bid of $64,721 for electrical work. Langstadt's, Inc., of Appleton was second of the seven bidders with $65,776.

The contracts probably will be awarded within a month by the state aeronautics agency, Abernathy said. All the bids must be tabulated before they become official.

Work on the project should start by Oct. 1 and probably will be completed before next summer.

Federal funds total about 40 per cent of the total cost of the runway job, while the state of Wisconsin will contribute $30,000 of the programmed expense items.

Funds Voted The Outagamie County Board last June voted to borrow $600,000 to help pay the county's share in the construction of the 5,200 by 150-foot northeast to southwest runway.

Included in the project will be a taxiway which parallels the new runway, another taxiway connecting the runway and apron areas, a concrete apron in front of the new Air Wisconsin hangar and high intensity lighting for the new runway.

Land purchase for the airport expansion program has been completed.

Presiding at the bid opening this morning were members of the county board's airport committee and officials of the Wisconsin State Aeronautics Commission and the Federal Aviation Agency.

Teamsters Local 563 served notice on city officials today claiming it is bargaining agent for certain employees at the Appleton City Home, and requested recognition as such.

Robert Schlieve, secretary-treasurer for Local 563, said the union had the required number of authorization cards from employees at the home to represent them in negotiations on wages, hours and working conditions.

City Home employees are non-union. More than a year ago the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Union, AFL-CIO, attempted an organizational campaign but lost in the representation vote.

Copies of Letter Schlieve sent copies of his letter to Mayor George Buckley, Personnel Director Jerome Ruch and Ald. John MacDonald (8th), chairman of the council's personnel committee.

"A representative of this union will meet with you at your convenience for the purpose of negotiating a collective bargaining agreement," Schlieve wrote. Employees excluded from the unionized work unit included clerical, professional and supervisory.

The Teamsters official said the union was willing to let a neutral party check authorization cards, which he claimed would show a majority of the employees wanted Local 563 to represent them.

Schlieve also said a petition asking for a representative election has been filed by Local 563 with the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board at Madison.

Holy Hour at Goodland Field

Catholic Ceremony to Draw Estimated 3,500

More than 3,500 persons are expected to attend the annual holy hour of the Outagamie County Deanery of Holy Name Societies, Wednesday night at Goodland Field.

Opening ceremonies are scheduled at 8:30 p.m.

The theme of the hour is "Brotherhood of Nations — in the way for the procession."

The Very Rev. Adam Grillo, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Appleton, will be under the direction of the Catholic War Veterans.

All Christians are invited to attend, officials said. In case of rain, the hour will be conducted at St. Joseph Church on W. Lawrence Street in Appleton.

Grand Chute Valuation Booms to $21.9 Million

Board to Hear 8 Objections on Assessments

Appleton Panel Suggests Decreases Totalling $5,775

Appleton's board of review was scheduled to hear eight more objections today, the same number as Monday when it recommended assessment decreases totalling $5,775.

The board will meet morning and afternoon, through Friday, in the second floor conference room at the city hall.

One major adjustment was made Monday due to an oversight when it was learned that a local resident who took out a permit for a building sometime ago had merely done the excavation and no work had been started on the basement.

As a result, his assessment figure was lowered $4,000 as agreed to by Assessor John Pierre. The other adjustments were minor.

Persons wishing to object to 1966 assessments may make appointments through the city clerk's office, and then are given opportunity to make an oral presentation setting forth their case.

Pierre says there are more than 18,000 properties on the tax roll. The assessment increases this year should exceed $5 million.

There have been no major assessment complaints or adjustments to date and officials say they do not anticipate any.

Youth Escapes Injury As Car Crashes, Rolls

Darrel D. Allen, 18, route 4, escaped injury about 4:30 p.m. Monday when his car went out of control, hit an embankment and rolled onto its top in the 2300 block of W. Leonard Street.

A witness said the car came off Perkins Street at a high rate of speed before it skidded sideways and rolled.

Appleton police charged the youth with reckless driving.

Commission Resolves Qualification Dispute

Appleton Unit Recommends Ordinance Say Degree 'Desirable' Rather Than 'Required'

A split which had developed in the degree requirement so an Appleton man would be eligible to take the oral examination in which a new recreation director will be selected was compromised after a 90-minute meeting Monday.

By a 5 to 3 vote, with Mayor George Buckley agreeing with the majority, a recommendation was made to the Appleton council that it amend that part of the hiring ordinance which makes a bachelor's degree in recreation a requirement for eligibility.

Instead of using the term "required," the commission said the ordinance should be changed to read that a degree would be "desirable." In this way a person without a degree is not to be excluded.

Change Requested The controversy began several weeks ago when one segment of the commission wanted to change the ordinance, after written tests had been given to eight applicants, to eliminate

It Isn't a Circus without clowns and there'll be clowns aplenty when the Clyde Beatty-Cole Brothers circus performs at the old Outagamie County airport Friday. Performances are scheduled for 2 and 8 p.m. under sponsorship of the Y's Men's Clubs of the Appleton YMCA. Advance tickets are available at the Prange Department store.

Life in the Circus

Spectators Ask About Gray Horses, Winter

BY ARTHUR E. BITTERS

In our travels over the country each year, there are several questions asked us most every day. Whether we are in the Canadian Northwest or going across the United States into California, invariably the questions are the same.

"What do you people do in the winter? Travel in Florida, I suppose," and "Why does the circus always use gray horses?"

Then, they usually follow up with, "It must be a hard life. When do you sleep?" And then for a final question they ask, "Where do you go from here?"

Maybe it is because the circus has the fundamental qualities it had 50 years ago. It is the old time perennial bloomer. That is the reason we know to a mathematical certainty what millions of people like best in our show, and what they are curious about.

No Definite Reason Now, about the gray horses. Well, there is no definite reason just why the circuses adopted the gray horse in numbers in preference to other breeds. One reason for that, perhaps, was because the Percheron breed, gray in color, was the largest of all horses, consequently, were heavier and more powerful. The rule was not general, however.

Many shows featured different breeds. For instance, in the year 1888, Adam Forepaugh featured a 40-horse hitch, the largest in all circus history and they were coal-black matched horses. So, there is no given reason.

The gray horses simply became a sort of insignia of the circus and probably will remain so.

Circus life is not all smiles. You see a slip of femininity cavorting on the back of a horse, executing poses, and throwing a smile now and then, for a final question they ask, "Where do you go from here?"

Lucey Makes Plea For Party Accord

Lieutenant Governor Concerned
Primary May Leave Deep Wounds

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The man usually regarded as the front-runner in the fight for the Democratic nomination for governor has admitted concern that the primary election campaign may leave wounds that will handicap the winner in the struggle with Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles in the November election.

Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, in an unusual public statement, has made a cordial pledge of support to the winner of the Democratic primary campaign, whoever he may be, coupled with a warning against a "division among Democrats as a result of the hard fought nomination contest."

The Lucey statement followed a series of highly acrimonious assertions from rival candidates in recent weeks, responding to some of his earlier campaign speeches and declarations.

Lucey said, "It now seems clear to me that the Democrats face a staggering task after the primary election," as he evidently tried to mollify other aspirants and to court their post-primary backing in the event of his victory in the September 13 nomination election.

Financial Resources
"The nomination contest is using up our financial resources," he went on, "Party workers," Lucey said, then go to Philadelphia.

"are being exhausted by the intensity of the early campaigning by four vigorous candidates. There is a danger of a division among Democrats as a result of the hard fought nomination contest. Finally, there is a very real threat that, in the closing weeks of the campaign when candidates are tired and their campaign managers nervous, rash statements and personal attacks might be substituted for the generally respectful and calm discussion which has prevailed."

Lucey's rivals are David Carley, the party's national committeeman, Attorney Dominic Frinzi of Milwaukee, and businessman Abe Swed of Milwaukee.

In most observers' accounts the fight is likely to be between Lucey and Carley as the principal contenders.

Rainers Will Visit In Philadelphia
MONTE CARLO (AP) — Prince Rainier and Princess Grace of Monaco are taking their three children to Philadelphia, her home town, for a two-week vacation next month. The palace announced today the family would leave Sept. 5, spend two days in Paris and then go to Philadelphia.

Wrightstown School District Qualifies for Integrated Aids

WRIGHTSTOWN — The Wrightstown School District has been granted an integrated rating for the 1966-67 school year to qualify for the highest rate of state aids, according to district clerk Mrs. Ervin Vandell.

The letter from the State Department of Public Instruction noted that the district should give future consideration to:

- Continue or initiate a program to encourage teachers to earn advanced degrees. Such a program is in effect at present and it is expected that it shall continue as recommended.
- Strengthen the in-service education program by increasing the time given to it. This was considered by the board of education during the past summer. The program was lengthened by a day this year and further lengthening is being considered.
- Improve the pupil-teacher ratio in the elementary school. This factor is being studied with the start of the new school year and shall be given continual study as time progresses. This refers to classes of more than 25 students and physical education classes of more than 40 students.
- Expand curriculum offerings at the elementary level to include kindergarten. A study is being conducted by the board to add it. When all of the facts and figures are known for such an addition, the voters of the district will be informed and given an opportunity to express their desires in the matter.

Statement Points to State's Opportunities For All Citizens

Retired Officer In Hospital for Chronic Hip Injury

Charles Steidl, Hortonville, recently retired Outagamie County traffic patrolman, is scheduled to be released from St. Joseph Hospital, Marshfield, in about two weeks, it was learned today.

Steidl, who underwent hip surgery seven weeks ago, was to have been released Aug. 9, but he dislocated the injured hip while still in the hospital.

His wife said today that he has been in a body cast about three weeks. She said Steidl probably will be home for about two months, during which time he must use crutches. He then is due to return to the hospital for therapy treatment.

The 40-year patrol veteran, injured his hip several years ago while investigating an auto accident.

Insurance Firm Fetes Four Retired Agents

Four retired agents of the Mutual Service Insurance Co. were honored at the annual picnic for agents and their wives of the firm's Appleton district. They were Frank Hass of Chilton, Emil Uhlenbrauck of Apple Creek, Henry Swenson of Amherst, and Ralph Norem, Oshkosh.

John Lorenz, district sales manager, also recognized four men who still represent the company and who have been agents for 20 years or more. They are Bill Parks, Pickett, Arnie Lemke, Shiocton; Bill Knitt, Bear Creek and August Appel of Appleton.

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — As state and local government law enforcement officials worried about the possibility of conflict arising out of civil rights demonstrations in Milwaukee and its environs, Gov. Warren P. Knowles published a statement on recent state government achievements in "human affairs."

"Wisconsin has an enviable reputation as a place of equal opportunity for all citizens," the publication distributed by the state executive department asserts.

"The primary objective of progressive government is to make our state a better place to live," the governor added in a compilation of recent legislative and administrative acts on "human rights."

In listing recent state government activity in the field, the governor gave top listing and highest priority to a 1965 act of his sponsorship which provided a new law to assure equal opportunity in housing.

The governor referred to the new legislation, cause of a considerable controversy in the legislature a year ago, which outlawed discrimination in the sale, rental or lease of housing when it constitutes a business. Private housing was exempt under the act.

The executive also cited an amendment to the state fair employment practices code, which has prohibited discrimination on the basis of race, creed or national origin. The additional provision makes it unlawful to deny Knitt, Bear Creek and August Appel of Appleton.

LaCrosse Duck 'Hunter' Primarily a Leg Man

LA CROSSE (AP) — If duck hunter think getting a successful shot at a mallard can be difficult, they should compare their problems to those of Eric Lawson.

Not only does he try to capture ducks unharmed, he tries luring them into cages with grain. The ducks, he said, may roost on the grain for a week before figuring out it is food.

Despite this time-consuming process, he sets an annual minimum quota for himself of 600 ducks a season.

Attach Leg Bands

Lawson is manager of the Upper Mississippi Wildlife Refuge from which many of the ducks headed south for the winter will be wearing identification bands attached to their legs by Lawson and his staff.

The refuge, which represents an area from Wabasha, Minn., to Savanna, Ill., is expected to accommodate about 4,000 wood ducks annually.

Lawson wants to trap at least 600 wood ducks for banding each year, and would like to band

Bound Over to Waupaca Court After Arraignment

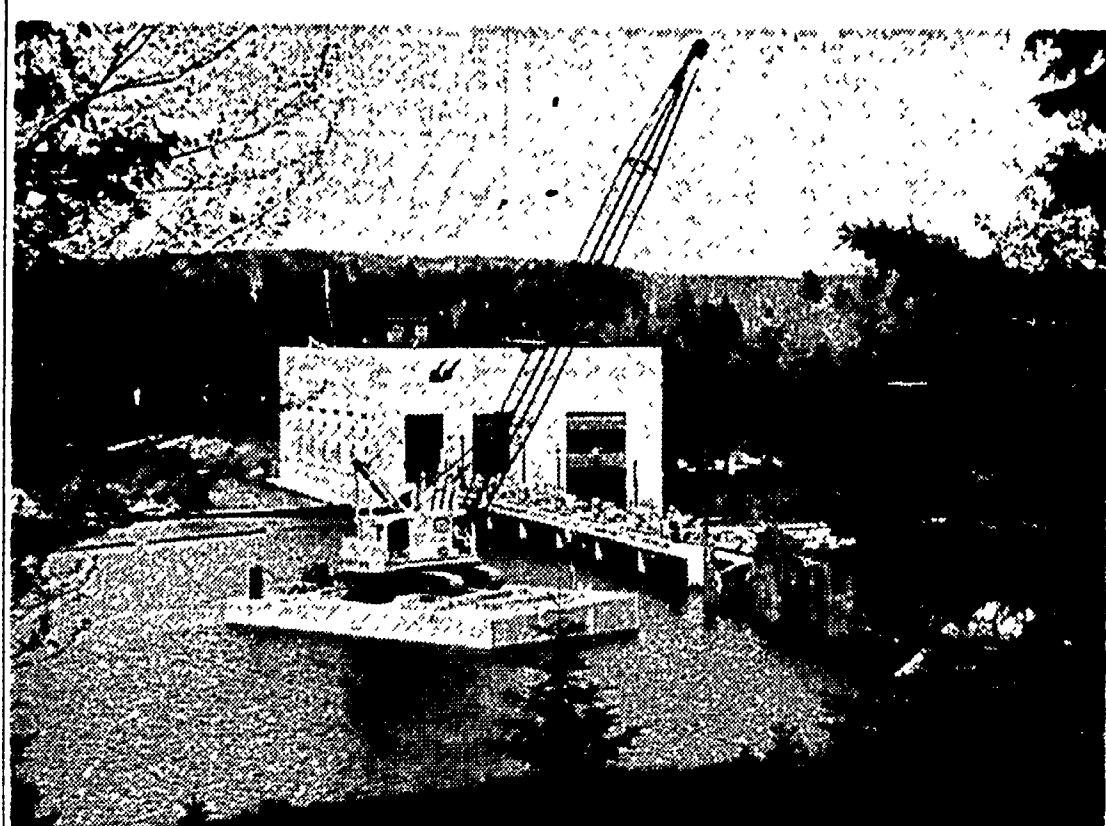

WAUPACA — James F. Petersen, 21, route 1, Ogdensburg, arrested Saturday with two female companions following a high-speed chase, was arraigned in Municipal Justice Court Thursday on three counts of issuing worthless checks and two counts of forgery.

He was bound over to County Court for preliminary hearing on the forgery charges. Unable to furnish a $2,500 bond he was returned to the county jail.

His two companions, Carol S. Miller, 18, route 2, West Bend, and Sandra L. Routt, 18, Milwaukee, were arraigned on charges of issuing worthless checks and bound over to County Court for trial. Both girls were returned to Winnebago County jail, where they have been in custody since their arrest when unable to furnish $500 bond each.

Caught After Chase

The trio, the object of a two-county search for more than a month, was arrested Saturday by the sheriff's department following a high-speed chase through the central part of Waupaca County.

This Floating Crane is playing an important role in reconstructing the dam at Wisconsin Michigan Power Co.'s hydroelectric plant near Kingsford, Mich. The contractor, Oscar J. Boldt Construction Co., Appleton, mounted the crane on the barge to solve some tough construction problems. For example, the crane ferries supplies from shore to the dam. The machinery also does some of the actual construction work.

Power Firm Shores Up Dam With 3.25 Million Pounds of Cement

This summer, 3 1/4 million pounds of concrete "prevention" are being installed to repair one of the firm's dams on the Menominee River.

An Appleton contractor, Oscar J. Boldt Construction Co., is rebuilding the dam at the power company's Kingsford, Mich., hydroelectric plant. The contractor has erected many buildings in the Appleton area including the 10-story addition to the Aid Association for Lutherans, but this is his first construction project at a dam.

Plans for the $285,000 project were started last summer after engineers inspected the Kingsford dam. They found the concrete portions were deteriorating, but judged the dam was "safe enough" for many years.

"This just wasn't good enough," J. K. Babbitt, assistant vice president, said. "Immediately we began making plans to rebuild and repair all the deteriorating sections."

Rebuild Piers

The major part of the project is demolishing and reconstructing 10 massive 4-foot-thick reinforced concrete piers. These piers separate the gates regulating the flow of water over the dam.

Other construction includes converting the walkway over the dam to a roadway so trucks can drive on it for maintenance work. New mercury lighting will be installed along the roadway. Concrete around the plant and dam also will be repaired.

"This is the most extensive construction project at the Kingsford plant since it was built in the 1920s," Babbitt stated. Power production will not be reduced during the project, he said as only two piers will be rebuilt at a time.

One piece of machinery that particularly intrigues riverside observers is a floating crane.

'Tough Problems'

"This crane was specially mounted on the barge to solve some tough construction problems," Jensen explained. "For example, rather than building a temporary bridge to the dam, we can use the barge to lift

Some Recovery Lost in Rally

Market Vigorous As Shares Advance From 10 Declines

NEW YORK (AP)—About half the gains of a vigorous stock market rally were whittled away as trading moderated early this afternoon.

At its height in the morning, the advance ranked with last Wednesday's which punctuated a string of 10 declines up to Monday. Both today's and last Wednesday's gains were called "technical rallies from overvalued conditions."

Analysts saw no basic change in the business or economic background although some brokers mentioned President Johnson's statement expressing disagreement with former President Truman's warning that stiff interest rates could lead to "serious depression."

The ticker tape ran as much as seven minutes late while prices were climbing rapidly.

Glamor Stocks

Glamor stocks made the widest recoveries, some rising as much as a dozen points before profits were taken and prices were trimmed all along the line.

The Dow Jones industrial average — which had been up 8.91 at the end of the first hour — held a gain of 3.90 at 7:00.33 at noon.

Many big blocks — running from 20,000 to 50,000 shares or more — were traded, mainly in the fast-stepping electronics, color television, aerospace defense and other glamor issues.

Motorola, which jumped 12 1/2 to 160 on a delayed opening, cut its gain in half by early afternoon. The same went for many other volatile issues.

Prices rallied on the American Stock Exchange.

Resident Sues New London

Everett Klinzing Asks $10,000 as Result of Dump Fire

NEW LONDON — The city is being sued for $10,000 by Everett Klinzing, 1402 Lawrence St., for injuries allegedly received as the result of a fire at the city dump Oct. 17, 1964.

City Clerk Melva Rickaby was served with a legal paper recently, informing the city of the demands and reasons for bringing the suit.

A report on the incident was filed with the clerk in October, 1964, and is on file. The matter has been turned over to the city's insurance agent.

Klinzing allegedly was treated for first and second degree burns to both arms, his forehead and the right side of his face on Oct. 17, 1964.

He claims he was emptying a container of papers into a fire at the dump when something exploded, shooting flames onto his body.

Circus to Show At Old Airport

is always a chance of a broken limb.

And, as to the question, "Where do you go in the winter?" It is only the performers, musicians and working forces who leave when the show disbands in the fall.

Hardest Time Of Year

The winter months are the hardest time of the year for the circus folks. New wagons must be built, new seats, equipment, etc. Circus property is highly perishable and must be replaced for the most part, following a strenuous season on tour. New routes must be laid out and considered and scores of new acts and displays engaged.

Making the big show ready for opening day — to the men who have millions of dollars invested, means many weeks of hard work during the winter months.

Nearly all of the 50 states are represented in our personnel. Upon checking we found the performers represented a score of states. No one section seems to produce more followers than another.

The Clyde Beatty-Cole Bros. Circus will exhibit in Appleton Friday at the old Outagamie Airport and is being sponsored by the Y's Men's Club.

Performances will be given at 2 and 8 p.m. Doors will open at 1 and 7 p.m.

Fox Regional Planning Unit Recommends Hiring Planner

Panel Resolves Dispute Over Filling Post

nicht, also a school board member, said he did not know what qualifications a person possessed to hold a degree in recreation and questioned the wording of the existing ordinance.

(The ordinance was prepared and groundwork laid for consolidation of the park and recreation departments by a special sub-committee which worked about a year on the project and then made its recommendation to the council last year.)

At one point, Monday, Jones said the old park board never wanted the consolidation. However, this was not indicated at the time of the merger of the departments.

Quick Action Urged

Smith insisted the commission should open the State Bureau of Personnel file and review grades eight applicants that passed the test received. He felt, as did Heerman and Strutz, that interviews should then be expedited.

The matter was brought to a head by Mayor Buckley, who attended the meeting as an ex-officio member of the commission to see what action it would take, when he suggested the college degree be desirable rather than required.

"The most important responsibility we have to the citizens of Appleton is to pick the best qualified man for the job and upgrade our program," Heerman declared.

The pay range for the recreation director is $630 to $750 a month.

Proposal Follows Executive Study of Consultant Report

The Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission's personnel and finance committee Monday recommended hiring a planner in January to increase the commission's services to its member municipalities.

The committee's recommendation followed the executive committee's review of the report of Harland Bartholomew and Associates, St. Louis planning consultants, on the commission's activities earlier this year.

That report recommended the commission increase its staff to six planners, two draftsmen and two secretaries to provide the necessary services to Valley municipalities.

Committee Recommendation

The executive committee recommended hiring a planner for the coming year.

The commission staff now consists of an executive director, a planner and a secretary.

The committee also recommended adoption of a 1967 budget of $48,545, an increase of $12,975 over the 1966 figure. The additional planner is the major cost increase.

Eugene Franchett, the executive director, informed the committee that the commission's technical advisory committee has recommended a comprehensive engineering and planning study of the solid waste disposal problem in the Fox Valley. He added that the commission's engineering and planning cost estimates have not been received from engineering firms.

Widespread Concern

It was noted that there is widespread concern regarding this problem and that a solid waste disposal study will probably be later treated as a separate item in the commission's general budget.

The committee's report will be presented to the executive committee at its next regular meeting Sept. 8.

Committee members at the meeting were Kimberly Village President Alvin Fulcer, chairman; Menasha Mayor Kenneth Holmes, Menasha Town Chairman Roland Kampe and commission vice chairman Donald Colburn.

Appleton Man To be Charged With Burglary

R. V. Krull, 23, Awaits Hearing On Second Count

Robert V. Krull, 23, 209 W. Pacific St., who is awaiting a preliminary hearing on a charge of attempted burglary, was to be arraigned this afternoon on a burglary count stemming from a break-in Aug. 16 at the Zephyr Service Station, 1349 W. Spencer St.

Three Appleton youths already have pleaded guilty to burglary charges arising from the same incident.

Douglas Londre, 18, route 4, was placed on probation for two years after he pleaded guilty Aug. 24. Two days later, Richard A. Siebers, 21, and Richard Teitzlaff, 18, both of 121 W. College Ave., pleaded guilty of burglarizing the station. They were to be sentenced this afternoon.

The summons against Krull was prepared Monday afternoon by Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer.

Krull is in jail in lieu of posting $5,000 bond. He and Warren (Pepper) Schroeder, also of 209 W. Pacific St., are charged with the attempted armed burglary of the Maritime Tavern here early the morning of Aug. 21.

They also are charged in warrants issued by Winnebago County authorities who allege the pair burglarized the J. C. Penney Co. Store and the Badger Paint Store at the Fox Point Shopping Center, Neenah, early Aug. 23.

Nine Employees Purchase Local Printing Firm

Corporation Buys Assets of Two Allied Companies

Nine local men, all former employees, have purchased the Badger Printing Co. and have assumed complete responsibility for its operation.

As employees of the firm, each had averaged 17 years of service with an average age of 43 years.

Each of the new owners will be active in the company with responsibilities as follows: Marlow L. Miller, president; Joseph Overesch, vice president; Ray Serdy, treasurer; Nick Gonnering, secretary; Eugene Heins, offset foreman; Jerry Overesch, composing room superintendent; Robert Robinson, composing room foreman; John Timm, typesetting foreman and Arnold Learnmann, plant superintendent.

The new corporation also has purchased the assets of the C. C. Nelson Publishing Co., which will operate as a division of Badger Printing Corp. The publishing division produces both hard and soft bound books and periodicals. The typographic division offers a wide range of monotype, linotype and foundry typesets.

Newest service available is design graphics, a complete source for artwork, design, layout, copywriting and consultation. The company employs a team of 50 men and women, offering a complete printing service, both offset and letterpress.

Signs Stipulation

NEENAH — William Morse, 24, 1065 Kalfans St., signed a stipulation of guilt for disorderly conduct and paid a fine of $29.50 today. He was arrested by Neenah policemen at the Pizza Place, 905 S. Commercial St., early today.

asked that the two-day October convention be adopted in the calendar.

The school calendar, passed by the board last January, had included the convention dates of Nov. 3-4 as the fall meetings for the teachers.

The Menasha Educational Association (MEA), an affiliate of the Wisconsin Educational Association, has its state convention dates set as Nov. 3-4.

In previous years, the two teacher organizations had their conventions on the same date. However, in April the Wisconsin Federation of Teachers meeting dates were changed.

Father Stoegbauer to Leave St. Mary for Northern Post

MENASHA — The Rev. Father Donald R. Stoegbauer will be leaving his duties as assistant pastor at St. Mary Parish. He has been appointed pastor of a Florence, Wis. parish and a mission church in Long Lake.

Father Donald Stoegbauer

Father Stoegbauer has been assistant pastor at the church since Sept. 5, 1958 and later was named administrator of the high school.

The announcement of the change was made today in a letter from Bishop Bona of the Green Bay Diocese. Father Stoegbauer will begin duties at the St. Mary Parish in Florence on Sept. 8.

"It's wonderful country up there," he said this morning, "but I'm going to miss this area."

Taking Duties

Taking over his administrative duties temporarily will be the Rev. Father John Dewane and the Rev. Father David Kiefer, both of the Menasha parish. Assuming the assistant pastor's post will be newly ordained Rev. Father James Massert, who will arrive Sept. 8.

The administrative duties will be taken care of by the two priests until a formal announcement is made in the future, Father Stoegbauer said.

Father Stoegbauer was born in Appleton, Feb. 20, 1929. He attended St. Joseph school, Appleton and the Menasha St. Mary High School before studying at St. Lawrence Seminary, Mt. Calvary.

He took his philosophy and theology training at St. Francis Seminary, Milwaukee, and was ordained in the St. Francis Cathedral, Green Bay, June 4, 1955 by Bishop Bona.

He offered his first mass the next day at St. Joseph church, Appleton, and received an appointment as assistant at St. John parish in Little Chute June 16, 1955.

Saturday Classes Listed at WSU-O

OSHKOSH — Thirteen Saturday morning courses will be offered at Wisconsin State University - Oshkosh this fall, according to Dr. Harold Crouse, director of extended services. Classes will begin at 8 a.m. Sept. 17, with registration.

Courses to be offered include drawing and color, the teaching of art, multi-sensory aids, kindergarten curriculum and techniques, social methods, techniques of improving developmental reading, introduction to education of exceptional children, regional geography of the eastern hemisphere, early civilization, United States History, fundamentals of arithmetic, introduction to speech and hearing therapy.

Convention Date Change Teacher Issue

MENASHA — A change in the dates for the Wisconsin Federation of Teachers convention in Milwaukee can be expected to cause a power struggle between the two teacher representative bodies in the Menasha School system.

The board of education Monday okayed the establishment of Oct. 6-7 as the convention dates for the teachers in the system.

Market Drop Continues

NM Stockholders 'Riding it Out'

NEENAH - MENASHA — Local brokers reported today that their offices have not experienced a rush of selling during the stock market nosedive over the last two weeks. Most local investors are worried, the brokers said, but for the present are "riding out" the tailspin.

Monday saw the market take the tenth loss in 11 days, and the trading was heavy at nearly 11 million shares.

Overall the market has dropped more than 225 points from its February all-time highs when the Dow Jones industrial average was pushing the psychological 1,000 barrier. The high was reached Feb. 9, at 955. Monday's closing was 767.

This morning the market was described as erratic, despite an early technical rebound.

Bernard Samuels, a representative of the Marshall Company, Inc., Neenah, said none of his customers seemed "squeamish" yet, mainly because area stockholders are somewhat sophisticated and know the quality of their holdings.

He pointed out that 90 per cent of the recent quarterly reports have shown "nice" gains in earnings and sales, and then noted that the market had been wrong about predicting the economic future in the spring of 1962, the last sharp market drop.

Gene Behnke, representative of Robert Baird & Co., Oshkosh, which services Neenah-Menasha investors, also reported that the local reaction has been "fairly calm." He said there has been no forced selling through the Baird office and even reported more buying than selling over the last few market days.

But he added, his customers are "quite tense and worried" about the recent market action.

Both listed uncertainty about the immediate economic future of the country as the main factor causing the drop-off, with "tight money" trends the most uncertain factor.

Behnke said as soon as a peaking off of interest rates appears, a rebound in the stock prices could follow. But, he said, that peaking is not yet in sight.

He noted that the area stockholder is somewhat different from the big city holder, since they are of an investor nature here rather than being traders.

Local Men Sign Legal Papers for Tag Company

NEENAH — Donald W. Buchta and Robert J. Dunsirn, both of Neenah, have signed as joint incorporators for the Mid-America Tag and Label Company, Inc. The articles of incorporation have been filed with the Winnebago County Register of Deeds, listing 2,000 shares of common stock.

The company has been formed to produce all forms of industrial tags and pressure-sensitive labels as well as specialties in the identification field.

Printing and die-cutting will be done on a variety of printable materials including tag stock, impregnated and coated papers, plastics and cloth.

Prior to moving into permanent quarters, the manufacturing facilities will be located at 631 Main Street, Neenah.

K-C Profits, Sales Hit Quarter High

NEENAH — Kimberly-Clark Corp. reported record first quarter sales and earnings at the annual stockholders meeting today, with per share earnings increasing from 74 cents a share to 98 cents.

Total earnings for the three month period ending July 31 were $9,962,000, compared to $7,550,000 for the same period last year.

Sales for the quarter rose some $20 million from $141,502,000 to $161,424,000.

It was the fourth consecutive quarter in which the company's earnings have set a record for the respective quarter.

John Kimberly, president, said demand for the company's products continued at a high level during the quarter. He attributed the earnings increase to "improvements within the company as well as the economies normally resulting from the high level at which our divisions are operating."

Foxes to Start Abarbanel Tonight After Losing Playoff Opener to Cedar Rapids

The Fox Cities Foxes' Fred Rath was thrown out at third base in this crucial play during Monday night's Midwest League playoff game at Goodland Field. Rath had tried to go from first base to third on a hit by Al Kristowski but he was retired on a throw to Cedar Rapids third baseman George Runk. Hamende Hurls Cards To 7-3 Win

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Cedar Rapids Manager Ron Plaza proved here Monday night that there's still room for a hunch player in the managerial ranks.

Plaza by-passed all of his regular starting pitchers for the opening game of the Midwest League's best-of-3 championship playoff and went with Joe Hamende, a left-handed relief hurler by trade. Hamende re-to a 7-3 victory over the Fox Cities Foxes.

The first-round champion Foxes, who are backed against the wall, will try to emulate the Cardinals' success with a southpaw tonight when they send Mickey Abarbanel into action at Cedar Rapids. The Cards will try to wrap up the title tonight behind either Ted Friel or Dale Meier.

Remembering that Hamende had stopped the Foxes, 8-1, at Goodland Field July 30 in his only regular-season starting assignment, Plaza decided to try for an encore even though the little southpaw was cuffed by the Foxes in a relief role at Cedar Rapids last week.

Scatters 10 Hits

Hamende, last night, didn't have quite the magic he did a month ago, but he managed to scatter 10 hits and shut the door whenever the Foxes threatened to produce a big inning. The Foxes helped his cause with some fuzzy base running that quelled rallies on at least two occasions.

Fred Rath, Hamende's opponent at the start of the first Goodland Field playoff game in Foxes history, left the scene in the fifth inning. Though only two of the six runs Rath allowed were earned, he lacked his usual speed and control and was in trouble almost every inning.

Cedar Rapids took control of the game in the fifth frame. With the score knotted, 2-2, Bob Cox drew a 1-out walk. Joe Arcia swung at a pitch-out and beat out a hit toward second base. The runners moved up as Rogers Robinson grounded out.

'Grabo' Averages 6 Yards a Carry But Lauds Taylor

Rookie Fullback Says He Probably Won't Play Much After Saturday

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — "I still don't feel right, but it's coming." This candid comment came from personable Jim Grabowski, beginning to see daylight as an apprentice pro after two pre-season appearances, as he tow-eled shower drops from his forehead following the Packers' surprisingly strenuous Monday drill.

"I'm looking forward to playing against the Giants (the Packers' final exhibition foe in Milwaukee County Stadium Saturday night)," Grabowski volunteered, adding with a puckish smile, "that'll probably be my last chance."

"I don't imagine I'll be playing too much after that," the record-breaking University of Illinois alumnus observed, pointing out by way of explanation, "Jim (Taylor) has been looking better every week... He's a great fullback."

No Apologies Needed
Be that as it may, the effervescent Chicagoan, the Packers' No. 1 choice in last December's National Football League draft, has little reason to apologize for his initial play-for-play performances, against the Dallas Cowboys and Pittsburgh Steelers.

Grabowski, who shattered the legendary Red Grange's rushing records at Illinois, has churned for 60 yards in 10 carries to date, a plush 6.0 average. He is not entirely satisfied, however. Analyzing his performance against the Steelers, he asserted, "the holes were good, but when I got into the secondary, I didn't know what to do."

"Grabo" has one other concern at the moment — maintaining his playing weight. The former Illini, who customarily carries 220 pounds, confided, "I feel a little too light right now. I'm probably down a pound or two."

"Most guys have to try to keep their weight down," he smiled. "But I have to eat all I can to keep mine up."

Elimination Day
Arrives in Legion National Tourney
ORANGEBURG, S.C. (AP) — It was elimination day in the American Legion Junior Baseball National Tournament today as loser met loser in the double-elimination event.

Nashville, Tenn., took on Manchester, N.H., and Lewiston, Idaho, met Tuscaloosa, Ala., in a two-night doubleheader.

Enid, Okla., dropped Manchester, 1-0, and Washington, D.C., beat Nashville, 5-0, in Monday's games.

Winners meet Wednesday. Washington will oppose Enid, and Northbrook, Ill., will play Oakland, Calif., in afternoon and night games. Thursday will have three games. Friday two, and the championship contest will be Saturday night.

Sligh Adjustment for Packer Center
Curry Ready, Willing If Called Upon for Opener

GREEN BAY (AP)—Bill Curry may get Lombardi's nod against the Colts. "I've been thinking about it, and if he is ordered to play center for the Green Bay Packers against the Baltimore Colts, it could be the most important duty of his athletic career."

Veteran Ken Bowman emerged from Saturday's tussle with the Pittsburgh Steelers on the importance of being a pro center, especially the importance of a fast, crackling snap of the ball.

Attention to Detail
"The Packers have paid more attention to detail than I've ever experienced," Curry said. The motion picture projector rolled Monday allowing the Packers to review their performance against the Steelers, whom they defeated 17-6.

When practice had ended, the players were joking that it can be rough playing four games a dazed after a play Saturday week.

Bunning Kills Giants; Cuellar Shuts Out Pirates; Shaw Stops LA

Three NL Leaders All Handed Defeats

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Bunning played Jack and the Beanstalk against the Giants again, Mike Cuellar turned in a first against the Pirates, and Bob Shaw got a one-day jump on the Dodgers.

So, nothing's changed as far as the top three teams in the National League are concerned. Bunning killed the Giants for the 10th time in 12 decisions against them as Philadelphia beat San Francisco 5-1 Monday night.

Cuellar notched his first major league shutout, blanking the heavy-hitting Pirates 2-0 at Pittsburgh.

Shaw, who had lost twice to Los Angeles this season, both times to Sandy Koufax, turned the tables on the Dodgers by pitching the New York Mets to a 5-3 victory. Koufax is scheduled to pitch tonight against the Mets.

Remain Tied
San Francisco and Pittsburgh remained in a first-place tie, with Los Angeles a game back. In other NL action Monday night, Cincinnati downed St. Louis 2-0 and the Chicago Cubs outlasted Atlanta 4-2 in 14 innings.

Bunning allowed two hits in the first inning, one of them Willie Mays' run-scoring double, and then didn't allow another until the ninth when the Giants got two harmless singles. The Phillies gave Bunning all the help he needed by scoring four runs in the third, two of them on Johnny Callison's double.

Cuellar struck out 11 and allowed just five hits in outdueling Pirate southpaw ace Bob Veale for Houston's sixth straight victory.

Inside Pitches
Houston rookie Ron Davis said many inside pitches he thought were balls were being called strikes so "I thought I'd better start swinging at them."

He did with two out in the fifth and tripled home Dave Nicholson, who had walked, and Bob Lillis, who had reached base on an error.

Shaw was staked to a 4-0 lead in the first two innings—two in the first on Jim Hickman's error and two in the second as a result of third baseman Nate Oliver's throwing error.

The Dodgers scored once in the third.

George Sobek To Speak at LL Banquet

George Sobek, director of the Chicago White Sox Boys Camp at Brothertown, will be guest speaker at the annual Appleton Little League banquet at 6 p.m. today at Sabre Lanes.

Sobek, who is also a part-time scout for the Chicago White Sox, who is also a part-time scout for the Chicago White Sox, has managed in the minor leagues and is a Big 10 basketball official.

Approximately 50 persons are expected at the banquet. Graduating LL players (12 years old) will receive certificates, and championship trophies will go to Jenkel Oil, Badger Highways and Northside Advancement. Boys will also receive prizes donated by various merchants.

The master of ceremonies will be John L. Paustian, Post-Crescent sports editor.

Hecker Happy, Looks for More 'Leftovers'

Timberlake Dropped By Giants to Reach Midnight Deadline

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Coach Norb Hecker of the new Atlanta Falcons was so pleased today with his leftovers, he will be back in line tonight for another plate full.

The line for seconds in this buffet will form outside the doors of the 14 old National Football League clubs, who must trim down from 49 to 43 players by midnight. Most of them are five or six over the limit and Hecker will be sniffing around for the best cuts of football beef.

His confidence bolstered by his club's first NFL victory Saturday, Hecker feels his offensive and defensive units are pretty well set.

"Of course, we're not going to turn down a chance to get a player we think can help us more than the ones we have," he said. His main need is bench strength, but he added that he will not give up future draft choices to obtain veteran back-up men.

Among those to be sifted through are players released Monday by the New York Giants and Washington Redskins of the NFL and the San Diego Chargers of the American Football League.

Reach Limit

The Giants reached the 43-man limit by placing four men on waivers, including second-year quarterback Bob Timberlake of Michigan, the Giants' No. 3 draft choice in 1965.

Others waived were linebacker Olen Underwood, a second-year man from Texas, and two rookies, running back Steve Bowman of Alabama and guard Owen Thomas of New Mexico State.

Washington dropped rookie quarterback Harry Theofilides of Waynesburg, Pa., and fullback Tom Urbanik of Penn State.

The Chargers released line-backer Jack Milks of San Diego State, defensive back Jim Tolbert of Lincoln, Mo., University and quarterback Dan Henning of William and Mary.

Hecker is not likely to go after the quarterbacks after the showing of rookie Randy Johnson in Saturday's 24-17 victory over San Francisco and Dennis Clardie in earlier games.

Volunteers Needed For Work on Hunting Grounds Wednesday

Volunteers are needed Wednesday for work to be done on the Mack Public Hunting Grounds, 2 miles west of Black Creek, on Highway 54.

The work, which will start at 10 a.m., will be mainly grass burning, according to a conservation spokesman. All available members of the Outagamie Conservation Club and others interested in conservation work are being asked to turn out.

Heavier Tax Burden Foreseen in Future

BY SYLVIA PORTER

The great Federal income tax cut is a distant memory and this year's step-up in withholding has significantly marred even that. Our Social Security taxes went up last January, go up again next January. Additional state and local taxes are being loaded on us at an ever-accelerating pace.

Despite the 1964 relief from Federal income taxes, the overall tax squeeze seems stiffer and clear. The relentless rise in demand for state and local services — ranging from road building to education, health and welfare, beautification, pollution control, slum clearance — is making the rise in state and local taxes equally relentless.

Grants Soar $10 Billion

Also spurring state and local spending is the proliferation of Great Society programs and grants to states which must be matched by state and local contributions. Just since 1956, federal grants to state and local governments have soared from $3.8 billion to a yearly rate of $13.5 billion today.

With the burden as great as it is, where can it — will it — be increased?

Using the recent past as prologue, here are probably pressure areas:

Individual income taxes: up 55 per cent between fiscal 1963 and 1965, a span in which total state and local tax collections rose 17 per cent.

Corporation taxes: up 27 per cent in the same period.

Sales taxes: up 19 per cent. Whatever the form of tax, whatever the form of tax, there is as of today, no way out for the states, cities or us.

Kimberly Man Cuts Forehead In 3-Car Mishap

KIMBERLY — Robert Vandenberg, 45, 305 N. Pine St., Kimberly, suffered a lacerated forehead and was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital in Larry's ambulance for treatment after the car in which he was a passenger was involved in an accident with parked vehicles about 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

According to police, a car driven by Mrs. Rosemary A. Stutzman, 104 1/2 W. Kimberly Ave., was traveling north on Washington Street when it struck a legally parked vehicle owned by Kenneth Vander Wielen, 117 S. Lincoln St., Kimberly, pushing it forward into another parked auto owned by Thomas Hoelzel, route 4, Appleton. Extensive damage resulted to the Stutzman and Vander Wielen vehicles.

Today, according to a Commerce Clearing House count, all but eight states have a general sales tax ranging from 2 to 5 per cent. State sales tax collections alone are now nearing the $9 billion a year range.

Today, all but 16 states collect a personal income tax and a growing number of cities are slapping on more income taxes as well. Only two states, Nebraska and New Hampshire, have neither a general income nor sales tax.

Nebraskans, though, will vote this November in a referendum on a bill passed last year to launch an income tax.

Doesn't Tax Cigarettes

Today, there's only one state left, North Carolina, which does not tax cigarettes. Elsewhere the cigarette tax ranges from two cents a pack to a staggering eleven cents. This is in addition to the 8 cents federal tax on cigarettes and in addition to growing numbers of municipal taxes as well.

Today, every single state taxes the gasoline you put in your car. At rates ranging from five cents to eleven cents per gallon. And this is on top of the Federal four cents per gallon tax. Again, more and more cities and towns are slapping their own gas taxes on motorists, too.

Just since fiscal 1950, our total state-local tax bill has soared from $15.9 billion to $51.6 billion in fiscal 1965.

Appleton Boy Hurt When Bike Hits Car

Brian Boushley, 6, 1425 N. Mason St., received arm cuts when his bicycle struck a car about 2:30 p.m. Monday at N. Gillett and W. Kamps streets.

Driver of the car was Eric D. Lindstrom, 20, 1900 N. Outagamie St. Lindstrom took the boy home after the accident.

Appleton police said Lindstrom was southbound on Gillett and the Boushley boy was westbound on Kamps when the accident occurred.

500,000 Demonstrate At Embassy in Peking

Protests of Russians in Second Day Despite Call For Red Guards to Stop

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese radio correspondent reported that 500,000 Chinese demonstrated against the Soviet Embassy in Peking today.

It was the second such day of anti-Soviet activity in the Chinese capital, although other Japanese correspondents in Peking had reported earlier that the Red Chinese leadership had apparently called off the demonstration today to avoid the possibility of a diplomatic break with Moscow.

Led by Peking's militant young Red Guards, 200,000 youths demonstrated in front of the embassy Monday and far into the night.

The Peking correspondent of NHK, the Japanese Broadcasting Corp., said the rally today was a continuation of the demonstration Monday. Both were reported noisy but orderly.

The demonstrators, led by the teen-agers, carried portraits of Mao Tze-tung and banners denouncing "revisionists," meaning the Soviet Communists. There were no signs of shouts that directly named the Russian, NHK said.

The official Peking People's Daily praised the teen-age "defenders of Mao Tze-tung's thoughts" for ferreting out "bloodsuckers" and "sworn enemies of the people."

The newspaper said the guards' purge of foreign influences "heralds political and economic revolution."

The People's Daily, organ of the Chinese Communist party, called for the Chinese people to take up the Red Guards' purge.

The purpose of the purge, the party paper said, is to "destroy utterly the old ideas, old culture, old customs and old habits" and "to foster vigorously the new ideas, new culture, new customs and new habits of the proletariat and socialism."

Union Leaders Refuse Canadian Rail Proposal

OTTAWA (AP)—Union leaders turned thumbs down today on Canadian government legislation to end the nationwide wage strike of 118,000 railroad workers.

Spokesmen for the striking rail unions said the government bill was "no solution." It provides an eight per cent interim wage hike for the strikers, who are demanding an average 30 per cent increase, and orders contract talks resumed under threat of compulsory arbitration.

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, warning that a prolonged strike could end in national disaster, introduced the measure Monday at a special session of the House of Commons.

The project — the world's first large-scale effort to make a hurricane's fury evaporate — was expected to take about 12 hours.

But Hurricane Faith hovered close to the test area boundary. A change of direction to the west could quickly move her beyond the area and force cancellation of the delicate seeding operation.

Scientists were reluctant to seed the storm earlier because it was too close to populated areas. They are not yet certain that strange things — perhaps even an intensification of the storm — might not result from seeding.

Rusk Defends U. S. Military Commitments

Secretary Testifies Before Hearing by Preparedness Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk testified today that the Central Intelligence Agency — sometimes termed the government's chief spy agency — has directed foreign policy.

"I have not known of an instance where the CIA has tried to usurp policy since I've been secretary of state," the Cabinet member told the Senate preparedness subcommittee at an open hearing.

It was Rusk's second session before the group, some members of which have contended that the number of U.S. defense treaties have left the country overextended. Rusk has said this is not true.

Questions about CIA's role in foreign policy were raised by Sen. Margaret Smith, R-Maine, a subcommittee member.

She said there had been much criticism that the CIA had invaded formulation of foreign policy. She noted the recent futile effort of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to acquire a role in the congressional supervision of the CIA.

"Are these charges true?" she asked Rusk.

"Not to my knowledge," Rusk said.

Ask LBJ to Cancel Talk Before Legion

Johnson Schedules Address In Spite of Segregation Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Veterans Committee called on President Johnson today to cancel his plan to address the American Legion's national convention, on the ground that the Legion "still overwhelmingly is a segregated organization."

The White House had announced Monday that Johnson would address the legionnaires today in the District of Columbia Armory.

The AVC, with a membership of some 10,000, lodged its protest in a telegram to Johnson contending that the makeup of Monday's legion parade demonstrated the segregation policy.

Similar messages were sent to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Veterans Administrator William J. Driver. The telegram to Driver also asked for an investigation under the Civil Rights Act "concerning federal assistance given to the American Legion and to other veterans organizations whose lack of clear national policy on integration condones or encourages large-scale de facto segregation."

The messages were signed by Ben Neufeld, national vice chairman of the AVC, and Frank E. G. Weil, chairman of the District of Columbia chapter.

Weil said he sat through the entire seven-hour parade and kept a tally of the makeup of marching units.

Of 268 groups observed in the parade, the message to Johnson said, 177 appeared to be all white, 27 appeared to contain "token" Negro participation, four appeared to be composed wholly of "other" groups, 19 appeared to be all Negro, and only 42 were integrated.

Johnson's plans for the speech were announced as the Legion gave evidence of readiness to back a firm policy in Viet Nam. A committee was drafting a resolution calling for dispatch of as many troops as needed for victory.

Beer Cools Warm Soviet Greeting

COOS BAY, Ore. (AP) — A party of sport fishermen thought international relations were warming up as they exchanged goods with about 30 crew members aboard a Soviet trawler 10 miles off the southern Oregon Coast.

But trading nearly came to an abrupt halt when a Soviet seaman opened a can of American beer passed to his vessel.

"The snap top came off easily, but with a hissing spray of beer," said Pat Rooney Jr., "Those crewmen hit the deck as though they expected a grenade to go off."

Guard Enforces Peace

Wauwatosa Protest Quiet

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Negroes demonstrated for the 11th night in a tense suburban Wauwatosa neighborhood Monday night as armed troops enforced a peace so quiet that crickets could be heard chirping on the lawns.

National Guardsmen brandishing bayonets escorted about 200 demonstrators on a two-mile march into the neighborhood, Columbus, Ohio, Monday, but after attempted negotiations collapsed at nightfall. Half a dozen eggs were hurled at the marchers when they left, but there was no other violence.

Wauwatosa Mayor Ervin Meier, who has asked Gov. Warren P. Knowles to send the troops into the fashionable suburb for sat in separate rooms 25 feet apart in Wauwatosa's city hall while Negroes demanded that stopgo and a rescue operation.

Higher Interest Rates Possible

Multibillion Housing Industry Cure May be Unhealthy for Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is about to give the lagging housing industry a multibillion-dollar shot in the arm. But the injection could well have a very painful aftereffect — still higher interest rates.

The size of the injection is impressive — $4.76 billion — but even its backers say it's only a stopgap and a rescue operation.

Patrol Boat Attack Fails

Viet Cong Continue Attempts On Mekong Delta Ship Lines

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong kept up harassment of allied shipping today with an unsuccessful attack on a U.S. Navy river patrol boat in the canal-laced Mekong Delta.

As the Communists staged their fifth attack on the waterways within eight days, the U.S. Navy sent aloft helicopter gunships to support its river boat fleet. It is the first time the Navy has flown its own armed helicopters.

Navy pilots and crews took over operation of the UH-1B Huey helicopters from Army teams after on-the-job training aboard the USS Tortuga, a dock landing ship stationed off the coast as base for the choppers.

Mine Explodes

The U.S. command said a mine exploded near a Navy patrol boat in the Co Chien River, 55 miles southwest of Saigon, but the blast caused no damage or casualties.

Then Viet Cong on the shore opened up with about 100 rounds of automatic fire. But the boat was not hit and its crew returned the fire. Results of the American fire were not known, an American spokesman said.

North Viet Nam in poured heavy raids Monday, flying 133 multi-

Plane Downed

One U.S. F105 Thunderchief was shot down Monday 15 miles northwest of Dong Hoi. The pilot bailed out but was not rescued and was listed as missing. It was the 347th American plane reported lost in the air war against the North.

Ground action in South Viet Nam came to a near standstill with only patrol skirmishes reported.

Guam-based B52 bombers made two raids today. One formation hit an enemy troop concentration and training camp 40 miles southwest of Saigon at dawn. Another formation struck a North Vietnamese infiltration route a few miles south of the demilitarized zone and 20 miles west of Dong Ha, in Quang Tri Province, the A.S. command said.

The series of attacks on allied shipping began with the mining last Tuesday of the U.S. merchant ship Baton Rouge Victory. She was hit 20 miles southeast of Saigon in the main shipping channel to the capital and seven of her crew of 45 Americans were killed.

Landing Craft

On Saturday, a South Vietnamese landing craft hit a Viet Cong mine in a river 54 miles southwest of Saigon, causing several casualties. A government minesweeper hit a mine Sunday and sank just outside the Saigon shipping channel a mile or so from where the Baton Rouge Victory was hit.

A U.S. minesweeper narrowly missed a Communist mine in

'Poor Substitute' for Needs, Sen. Russell Calls Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell said today a House committee's plan to authorize President Johnson to call up about 190,000 Reservists appears to be "a pale substitute for what is needed."

Russell's chilly reception greeted House Armed Services Committee approval of a bill which would authorize the President to place on active duty some 56,000 nondrilling Reservists and about 133,000 other Reservists who have not completed training.

Not Requested

The President has not asked for such authority and many members of Congress have expressed doubt he would ever use it.

Russell, D-Ga., who heads the Senate Armed Services Committee, told a newsman he is going to await developments.

"There is a question in my mind whether this House bill goes far enough," he said.

"From press accounts of its terms — and I have had no opportunity to study the bill itself — it looks like a pale substitute for what is needed."

The Senate adopted 66 to 21 last week a Russell amendment to allow the President to require 18 months service from all Reservists or Guardsmen with less than six months active duty — an estimated 500,000 men. But the House rejected the

Russell amendment, tacked onto the $58-billion defense money bill, largely on grounds its Armed Services Committee was working on a separate measure.

When the House committee approved its bill by a 31-1 vote Monday, Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., called it a refinement of the language of the Russell proposal.

Rivers said approval of the House measure would eliminate any notion that potential draftees could find a haven by joining the Reserves.

Russell said that so far as he is concerned there will be no consideration by his committee of the Reserves proposal until the House acts.

Under the House bill, a Reservist who was called up would serve only until he had completed a total of active duty service or active duty for training equal to 24 months, a period comparable to that of the draft.

Murphy Recovering Fast From Surgery

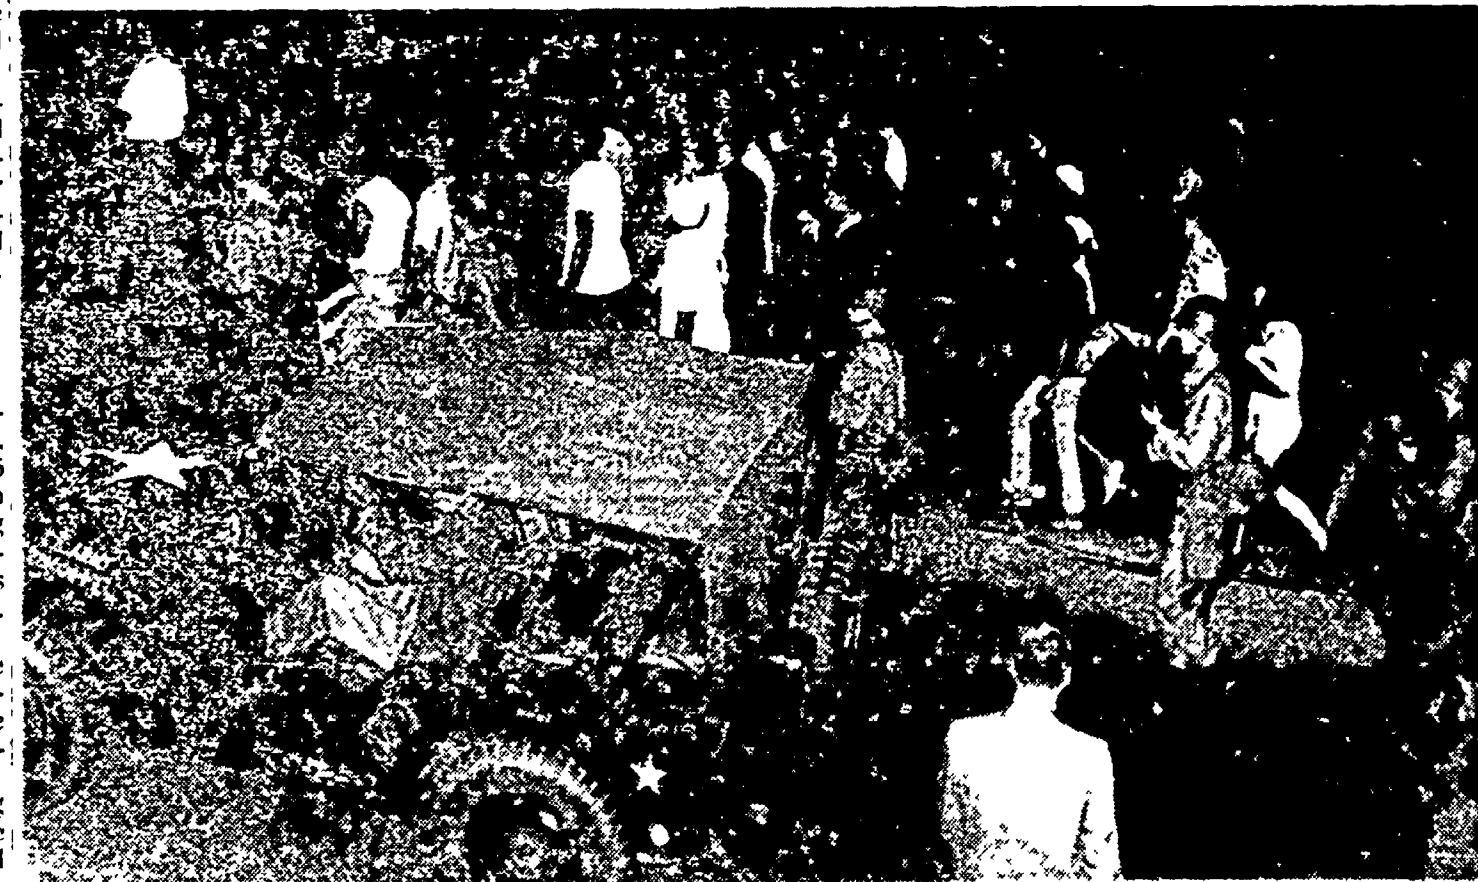

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Son of George Murphy, R-Calif., who underwent surgery Aug. 25 to remove a tumor, is recovering from his removal of a growth from his vocal chords, is recovering rapidly and will leave the hospital Wednesday, his son Dennis said Monday in Hollywood, Calif.

The son said studies of the tumor disclosed a slow malignancy, in its earliest stage. He said surrounding tissue was perfectly healthy.

"He's feeling fine and signing letters today," Dennis said. "He will go home Wednesday and will return to Washington in a week or 10 days. The doctors said he would not have to alter his schedule there."

Leading Democrats Read Interest Rate Signs Differently

Truman's Warning of Depression Refuted; Called Show of Strength

WASHINGTON (AP) — The touchy issue of spiraling interest rates has triggered a top-level disagreement in the Democratic party, with President Johnson challenging former President Harry S. Truman's warning that the high rates could bring on a depression.

Johnson said he shares Truman's concern about the mounting rates.

"However," he added, "I cannot agree with President Truman that our economy is in danger of recession or depression."

The President contended the tight money supply mainly reflects "the extreme buoyancy of our economy and the resulting very sharp rise in the demand for credit."

In a statement issued from his Texas ranch, the President said Monday: "These are symptoms of strength, not weakness."

Better Way

But, the President said, "we need to find better ways to restrain inflationary pressures than by resorting merely to the high interest rates we have been witnessing."

This comment prompted some members of Congress to say privately that the President may be beginning to think of new legislative proposals to deal with the situation.

Negro Youth Stone Stores In Michigan

Eight Arrested on Second Night in Benton Harbor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bands of Negro youths roamed Benton Harbor, Mich., Monday night, stoning storefronts and automobiles as the northern Midwest stayed in the center of the racial scene.

Police Lt. Meredith Ryerson said some persons were arrested during the second straight night of unrest in the southwest Michigan city of 20,000, including some white persons for shotguns and bats in the car.

He said about 30 extra officers were called in from neighboring communities and from the state police as three or four gangs each with 35 to 100 Negro youngsters roved through a predominantly Negro area.

Eight youths had been arrested Sunday during a melee which ensued when officers tried to disperse a crowd.

Waukegan Curfew

At Waukegan, Ill., police enforced a 7:30 p.m. curfew and prevented a recurrence of three days of rioting. They arrested more than 50 curfew violators in a Negro neighborhood and charged them all with mob action.

Police said one-third of the arrested were from outside of Waukegan. They said they confiscated automatic pistols, revolvers, ax handles, rubber hoses, knives, hammers and lengths of pipe.

Nineteen of the arrested were white, police said. 36 Negroes and a Puerto Rican.

"We're stamping it out as soon as it starts," said Police Lt. Patrick Quilly.

The curfew had been ordered Monday after seven persons were injured and 64 arrested during a spree of rock, bottle and fire-bomb throwing by about 500 Negroes Sunday night — the third straight night of violence in a southside area.

Liquor Tax Benefit

More Veterans Aid Backed by Swed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Abe Swed, seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, has suggested that veterans benefit from the proceeds of the state liquor tax.

Swed said Monday in Madison that a $1 liquor tax established in 1947 was intended for veterans' benefits, but that the revenue has been used elsewhere.

"Wisconsin has been cheating its veterans by using money intended for veterans' benefits for other purposes," he told an American Legion meeting.

Dominic H. Frinzi, another Democratic gubernatorial hopeful, said national committee member David Carley's recent disclosure of his net worth and stock holdings "includes little worth knowing and excludes everything essential."

Study Statistics

Frinzi said Carley's statistics should be studied before the disclosure could be considered important.

"I hope Pat Lucey will demonstrate a better grasp of what financial disclosure means and why it must be done than Dave Carley has managed," Frinzi said in a statement in Madison.

Carley and Lt. Gov. Lucey also are seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nod.

With weak disclosures of financial worth, Frinzi said, "my three Democratic opponents will effectively kill off the major issue of conflicts of interest to be used against Gov. Knowles by the Democratic nominee."

Income Increasing

Warren P. Knowles said in Madison that Wisconsin had the highest increase in personal income among the Great Lakes states in June.

He cited statistics published in a nationally circulated business magazine as "evidence of the economic growth generated in Wisconsin during the past two years" of his administration.

Carley, at a dinner in Racine, said the Republican governor's suggestion that chief executives be given a review function over all federal funds going to municipalities is a negative response to the needs of cities.

He recommended that Wisconsin

DeGaulle Worries About Viet Nam On Arrival for Visit to Cambodia

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia, (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle declared on his arrival in Cambodia today that "the war in Viet Nam could lead the world to its misfortune."

The French leader wasted no time in commenting on the conflict being waged on the border of this Southeast Asian kingdom after his plane touched down on a flight from Djibouti, French Somaliland.

Shortly before his arrival Prince Norodom Sihanouk charged that 250 men had been trained in neighboring Thailand to cause disorder during the French leader's visit.

The Cambodian chief of state told a news conference energetic counter measures had been taken and exceptional security precautions would be applied during De Gaulle's visit Thursday to the temple of Angkor Wat, in northwest Cambodia.

Ancient Enemies

Cambodia and Thailand are ancient enemies. One of the chief issues between them has been the temples at Angkor and the surrounding province of Siem Reap, which was Thai territory until 1907 and again in 1941-46.

Prince Sihanouk said the plot had been discovered by Cambodian agents who infiltrated the anti-Sihanouk Khmer Serai (Free Cambodia) movement in Thailand. He said that a group of 50 plotters planned to mingle with the crowd at Siem Reap when De Gaulle arrived to visit Angkor.

Sabotage attempts also were scheduled in the frontier area near Thailand, he said.

Phnom Penh was spic and span and dressed in brilliant colors as its 500,000 inhabitants expectantly awaited De Gaulle's arrival late this afternoon.

19-Day Trip

De Gaulle, on a 27,000-mile, 19-day swing around the world, was flying to this former French possession from Djibouti, French Somaliland, France's last foothold in Africa.

During his three-day state visit, the French president was not expected to make any dramatic moves toward ending the war in Viet Nam. But he was expected to stress his view that Viet Nam — along with Cambodia and Laos — should be independent and neutral with no foreign troops on its soil.

That has been Sihanouk's policy since his country and the rest of Indochina gained independence from France through the 1954 Geneva agreements.

De Gaulle leaves for New Caledonia Friday.
